President Meets With Hirohito Near Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Nixon and Japan's 70-year-old Emperor Hirohito stood stiffly at attention as red-jacketed U.S. Marines, heirs to men who fought Japan on dozens of Pacific battlefields in World War II, passed in review.

Nixon and the Emperor—the first reigning Japanese monarch ever to leave his homeland—met for more than an hour on American soil late Sunday night. For those present, it clearly was a moving and historic moment, symbolizing the postwar alliance of onetime enemies.

As Hirohito later boarded his American-made jet transport for an over-the-pole flight to Copenhagen, the Alaskan night sky was illuminated brilliantly by a spectacular display of the Northern Lights.

Before the Emperor's arrival Nixon attended a reception at the anchorage home of Walter J. Hickel, the man he dismissed as interior secretary less than a year ago.

Nixon made an 8,140-mile round trip to Alaska to become the first U.S. president ever to meet with an emperor of Japan.

Their talks were general in nature—a circumstance dictated by the Emperor's position as one whose influence on Japanese policy can be exercised only in subtle ways.

There was no immediate word on the content of any of the talks, however, and no communique was issued at the conclusion of the royal visit.

The President, welcoming Hirohito at Elmendorf Air Force Base, said:

"Your journey to Alaska symbolizes Japan's growing position in world affairs. We meet in... a place which is approximately the same distance between Tokyo and Washington D.C. This fact reminds us that for the past quarter century that we have built a structure of political, economic and cultural ties which spans the space between our two countries."

Nixon said he hoped their meeting would "demonstrate for all the years to come a determination of our two great peoples to work together in friendship for peace and prosperity for the Pacific and for all people in the world."

Hirohito said he was "deeply moved" that the President and Mrs. Nixon had undertaken a long journey to meet the Emperor and Empress Nagako on what was ostensibly a simple refueling stop en route to Europe.

The Emperor, who was commander in chief of Japanese forces that invaded and occupied parts of Alaska's Aleutian Islands chain nearly 30 years ago, expressed "my most sincere gratitude" for what he termed America's "unintended assistance, materially and morally, after the end of the war in the restoration and building up of our country."

North Vietnam Food Crisis Reported; Reserves Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports that floods have destroyed about 800,000 tons of North Vietnam's rice, 10 per cent of this year's crop.

As a result, these sources said, the North Vietnamese government has had to dig into food stocks earmarked for next year in order to cope with the emergency situation.

Communist China and Russia are delivering additional construction supplies and medical materials to the North Vietnamese, and are expected to increase food shipments, intelligence sources said.

However, U.S. analysts suggested China's response to North Vietnam's flood-caused food difficulties could be slowed if rumors of internal political crisis in Peking are true.

Russia has been a major supplier of wheat and flour, agricultural equipment and fertilizers to North Vietnam. But recent reports indicate Russia's harvest may fall about seven million tons short of last year's 150 million tons.

At the same time, American analysts said, the Russians find themselves with insufficient reserves of bread grains because significant stocks have spoiled under improper storage and because much more wheat is being fed to livestock in a campaign to ease a domestic meat shortage in the Soviet Union.

U.S. sources say this all means the Kremlin may have to raise its own wheat imports

ACA Says Gilligan Labor's Favorite

WASHINGTON (AP) — According to the Americans for Constitutional Action, a conservative political watchdog group, Gov. John Gilligan of Ohio garnered the largest amount of contributions from organized labor in 1969-70 campaigns across the nation.

The ACA said Gilligan, a Democrat, received a total of $168,974.10 from four unions.

The largest single contribution, the group said, was of $89,212, from the United Auto Workers to Sander Levin, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Michigan governor. Levin reportedly ranked second behind Gilligan in total contributions.

Chutist Killed In 2500-Foot Fall Saturday

Worthington Boy Fails To Deploy Reserve Chute

A 17-year-old Worthington skydiver died 6:10 p.m. Saturday when he plummeted 2500 feet into a field owned by Ralph Satterfield, northeast of Era in Darby Township.

The boy, Jeffrey Nelson Watkins, was making his second parachute jump of the afternoon and 25th since he started jumping a year ago, according to Ruddy Samples, president of the Columbus Sport Parachute Club, of which Watkins was a member.

He repacked his main chute following the first successful jump and attempted the second jump from a Cessna aircraft with John R. Padliello Jr., also of Columbus.

According to Padliello, Watkins' main chute failed to open after a slight free-fall and streamed behind him. Watkins released the main chute from its harness, at approximately 1000 feet, tumbled end over end, but failed to unleash his reserve parachute.

AN investigation by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn showed the holding pins still in place in the reserve chute.

Watkins, who landed face down in the field 24 feet from a fence, was pronounced dead on the scene by coroner Ray Carroll of a crushed skull and broken bones.

The main chute was found entangled in electric wires 200 yards southeast of the body, and 1/2 mile from the sports club's property in the edge of Pickaway and Madison Counties.

Watkins, a junior at Worthington, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Watkins, 693 Evening St., Worthington, who are the blind operators of the Vision Center of Central Ohio.

The accident was reported by the Mt. Sterling Police Department and investigated by Kuhn and Auxiliary Deputy Cecil Hatfield.

Reds Attack From Cambodian Border

South Viets Take Beating

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces mounted heavy attacks today along South Vietnam's border with Cambodia for the second day, reportedly inflicting heavy losses on South Vietnamese forces.

Two U.S. aircraft supporting the South Vietnamese were shot down with five Americans wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Field reports said the South Vietnamese lost at least 20 men killed, about 100 wounded and a number of artillery pieces, tanks and armored cars destroyed, some of them apparently by sappers who broke into the government positions hurling satchel charges.

The South Vietnamese Command reported that 92 North Vietnamese troops were killed, many of them by U.S. helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and artillery.

On the outskirts of Saigon, two Viet Cong sappers were detected attempting to penetrate an ammunition depot near Tan Son Nhut air base, South Vietnamese headquarters said. One of them was killed and the second escaped, a communique said.

A series of explosions ripped through a section of the dump a week ago, destroying 300 tons of ammunition.

Viet Cong sappers used a mine to blow up a train traveling from Qui Nhon to Tuy Hoa on the central coast. The Saigon Command said one civilian was killed and six were wounded, adding that the locomotive was destroyed and three cars were damaged.

U.S. officers said the attacks along the Cambodian border and the increase in sapper activity are probably timed to take advantage of political unrest and divisiveness among the South Vietnamese.

The apparent military object is to drive South Vietnamese troops from defensive positions along Highways 1, 7 and 22 along the border with Cambodia.

North Vietnamese troops from two divisions pounded 11 South Vietnamese positions and one U.S. base on the Vietnamese side of the border Sunday from dawn to dusk with up to 1,000 rounds of rockets and... (Continued on Page 12)

Conference Set On State Tax Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A conference committee will be named this week to begin working on a compromise version of the $7.6 billion budget-tax measure that passed the Senate Saturday.

It could take several weeks for the two houses to iron out differences over the bill. The Senate-passed measure is based on a one-and-a-half cent hike in the sales tax and a 3.5-to-6.5 per cent tax on corporation income.

July 14 the House passed a tax package based on a personal and corporate income tax.

The Senate's action Saturday ended nearly four months of formal Senate consideration of tax and budget provisions. The beefed up sales tax finally passed 18-15. Three Republicans and 12 Democrats voted against it.

Sen. Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, said he would continue to fight for a personal income tax, although he said privately that he had not been pleased with the income tax bill that passed the House.

The bill that passed the Senate would cost the average family of four about $67.50 annually. Sen. Michael Maloney, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said the new taxes would provide $789 million in additional revenue over the biennium.

Budget provisions of the Senate-passed bill included: —$60 million for a homestead exemption for the elderly, approved by the voters last November.

—$11.2 million for the cities.

—$317.5 million for elementary and secondary education.

—$610 million for higher education.

Senate Education Committee chairman Oakley Collins, R-18 Ironton, said it was "the finest education bill we have had in many years."

As he spoke, the Senate gallery was packed with representatives of the Ohio Education Association, which has lobbied strongly in favor of the income tax bill. An income tax would have produced higher revenues.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, called the education spending in the Senate budget "sheer folly." Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, termed it "an abortion."

The Finance Department prepared estimates which showed that a family of four with an income of $7,500 would pay $67.50 annually under the sales tax.

The department said Gov. John Gilligan's original income tax proposal would have cost the same family $65, while the House - passed version would have required them to pay only $57.50.

The only Democrat in the Senate to vote in favor of the tax bill was Sen. Bishop Kilpatrick, D-32 Warren, who said his constituents expected him to keep the schools open.

Delays in approval of a state biennial budget have presented a number of school districts with financial problems, leading some to announce they might have to close by the end of the year.

1,100 Attend Annual 4-H Awards Program, Barbecue

AUCTIONEER HONORED — Pickaway County's 4-H Clubs Saturday presented a special plaque to Mrs. Willison Leist honoring her husband, the late Willison Leist, who was for many years the auctioneer at the Pickaway County Fair.

An estimated 1100 people attended the annual Pickaway County 4-H Barbecue held Saturday at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Outstanding, 4-Hers, clubs and individuals were signaled out for special honors at the event which is under the direction of the Pickaway County Extension Service.

A special plaque honoring the late Willison Leist was presented to Mrs. Leist. Leist, an auctioneer, officiated at most of the livestock sales held in conjunction with the Junior Fair program.

Hamrick noted that Leist knew practically every youngster in 4-H and was able to add a personal touch to the auctions that few other auctioneers could hope to achieve.

A SPECIAL Friend of 4-H Award was announced for Dudley Carpenter, manager of John W. Eshelman and Sons. Mr. Carpenter is on a European vacation and was not present to accept the award.

Each year a Heart H and Service Award are presented to the girl and boy who do the most for 4-H Club work in the county through their efforts.

The awards this year went to Darlene Collins and Alex Jones. The Dairy Achievement award went to Linda Carter. Honor clubs announced at the banquet were:

Logan Elm Sunny Sewers, Alice's Angels, Stir and Chatter, Darby Flying Needles, Buttons and Bows Junior Club, Dainty Dee-Or-Ettes, Future Farmers of Monroe, Westfall Livestock, Darby Fine and Dandy, Pickaway Beef and Sheep, Walnut Porkers, Westfall Wranglers.

Peggy Riffle, Pickaway County Fair talent contest winner, presented the entertainment portion of the program.

Presentation of awards was by Fred Sandrook, 4-H agent; Penni Nielsen, home economics agent and George Hamrick, extension agent.

Russ Palm, on behalf of the 4-H barbecue committee, presented the welcoming address.

Dock Talks Resumed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshoremen and shippers resume negotiations today in the 89-day-old West Coast dock strike, after the intervention of President Nixon.

Negotiators have agreed to seek an agreement by the end of this week, Nixon announced after a meeting with opposing factions Saturday in Portland, Ore.

However, Sidney Roger, a chief spokesman for the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, cautioned: "No matter who meets with whom, remember the strike can't end without approval from the rank and file with a secret ballot."

The President met with ILWU President Harry Bridges and Ed Flynn, president of the Pacific Maritime Association.

Alaskan Pipeline Revived

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Interior Department may be able to make a favorable environmental report on the trans-Alaska oil pipeline because of changes agreed to by the proposed builders, Interior Secretary Rogers Morton says.

The pipeline "can be built compatibly with the environment" and an Interior Department report on the project should be issued by the end of the year, possibly before Dec. 1. Morton said here Sunday night. He said it would be March or midspring before construction could start.

Morton, who accompanied President Nixon on his trip to Alaska to meet Japanese Emperor Hirohito, commented during a reception for members of the Allied Daily Newspapers of Washington.

Morton said the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., the combine of oil firms which proposes to build the 800-mile line, has agreed to allow the Interior Department to stop construction if it is not satisfied environmental requirements are being met.

Morton said virtually all reports on the pipeline were in from other government agencies, including the departments of commerce and defense, and added: "I can't foresee any difficulties with any of them."

The pipeline has been opposed by conservationists and Alaska native groups who fear it could harm the arctic ecology along its route from the Alaskan North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez. Opponents also have argued that fishing grounds would be endangered by the possibility of oil spills at the line's southern terminus on the Gulf of Alaska.

Danish Prime Minister Resigns

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Prime Minister Hilmar Baunsgaard resigned today but immediately agreed to head a caretaker government that will run Denmark until an electoral standoff can be resolved.

The stalemate resulted from parliamentary elections a week ago which left Baunsgaard's ruling coalition with a 88-87 majority—too thin, party leaders agreed, to form a workable government.

Court Asked To Investigate Political Fund

Key GOP Races Said Involved In Money's Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause, the self-styled citizens lobby, has asked a federal court to order a former White House aide to open his records on an estimated $2 million pumped into key Republican races for the Senate last year.

Attorneys for Nixon fundraiser Jack A. Gleason are fighting the court move with a request to curtail any pretrial questioning and keep his testimony sealed under court order.

The move to open the records is part of a Common Cause suit filed against the Republican and Democratic parties to enforce present federal limits on campaign contributions and spending.

Gleason left the White House last fall to run the fund-raising effort that channeled as much as $2 million into a dozen states where GOP candidates were locked in tight races trying to win control of the Senate.

A number of President Nixon's ambassadors have been identified as donors through Gleason. Other Nixon backers, including two members of the Republican National Finance Committee, also steered money through him, according to a GOP campaign official in one key state.

Gleason's court motion two weeks ago asked the pretrial questioning be limited to the fall of 1968 when Gleason was a major Nixon presidential fundraiser as assistant chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee.

It said any deposition taken from Gleason should be sealed and then "opened only by order of the court." To do otherwise, Gleason's attorneys said, would cause him "unreasonable annoyance, embarrassment and oppression."

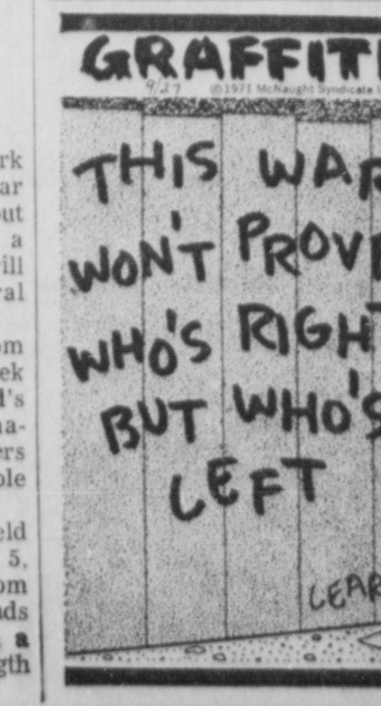

Common Cause, in a 10-page reply last week, said "any embarrassment which he may encounter is the product of his own efforts."

Gleason has refused to comment to newsmen on the fund-raising activities.

Kurfess Secretary Rose Justice Dies

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be held here at 11 a.m. Wednesday for Rose Justice, 54, who had been secretary to Ohio House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perryburg.

Miss Justice died Thursday at University Hospital in Columbus. She had been secretary to Roger Cloud during his tenure as House speaker and to Edward Jones, then chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Women Judges Mum On High Court Changes

By ANN BLACKMAN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The three women President Nixon has appointed to the federal bench are exercising judicious, if not judicial, discretion, each declining to comment on her chances of becoming the first female Supreme Court justice.

Although no one can be sure of the President's support, Mrs. Nixon told reporters Thursday she was "talking it up" with her husband to appoint a woman to the high court. She mentioned that the President had appointed three women to federal courts—Cornelia G. Kennedy of the U.S. District Court in Michigan and Sylvia Bacon and Normalie Holloway Johnson, both of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

In case "they don't get one this time," Mrs. Nixon said, "they're grooming them."

They'll be moved up to other courts."

The next day, Mrs. Nixon said the White House is giving careful consideration to the idea of a woman on the court but added: "The trouble is, the best qualified women are too old."

In addition to the three women singled out by Mrs. Nixon, others being mentioned in speculation include Shirley M. Hufstetler, who as a member of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is the nation's highest-ranking woman judge; Rita Hauser, a New York Republican once named by Nixon as a United Nations representative, and Mary Gardner Jones, a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

President Nixon, asked Thursday night about the possibility of appointing a woman, told the Detroit Economic Club that he is more interested in a candidate's judicial philosophy than anything else, and reiterated that he wants nominees who are "strict constructionists" of the Constitution.

Judge Kennedy, 48, of Grosse Point Woods was the first woman in Michigan history appointed to the federal bench. She is regarded by her colleagues as a moderate in her application of the law.

Each year a Heart H and Service Award are presented to the girl and boy who do the most for 4-H Club work in the county through their efforts. The awards this year went to Darlene Collins and Alex Jones.

The Dairy Achievement award went to Linda Carter. Honor clubs announced at the banquet were:

Logan Elm Sunny Sewers, Alice's Angels, Stir and Chatter, Darby Flying Needles, Buttons and Bowls Junior Club, Dainty Dee-Or-Ettes, Future Farmers of Monroe, Westfall Livestock, Darby Fine and Dandy, Pickaway Beef and Sheep, Walnut Porkers, Westfall Wranglers.

Peggy Riffle, Pickaway County Fair talent contest winner, presented the entertainment portion of the program.

Presentation of awards was by Fred Sandrock, 4-H agent; Penni Nielsen, home economics agent and George Hamrick, extension agent.

Russ Palm, on behalf of the 4-H barbecue committee, presented the welcoming address.

Dock Talks Resumed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Longshoremen and shippers resume negotiations today in the 89-day-old West Coast dock strike, after the intervention of President Nixon.

Negotiators have agreed to seek an agreement by the end of this week, Nixon announced after a meeting with opposing factions Saturday in Portland, Ore.

However, Sidney Roger, a chief spokesman for the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, cautioned: "No matter who meets with whom, remember the strike can't end without approval from the rank and file with a secret ballot."

The President met with ILWU President Harry Bridges and Ed Flynn, president of the Pacific Maritime Association.

Alaskan Pipeline Revived

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Interior Department may be able to make a favorable environmental report on the trans-Alaska oil pipeline because of changes agreed to by the proposed builders, Interior Secretary Rogers Morton says.

The pipeline "can be built compatibly with the environment" and an Interior Department report on the project should be issued by the end of the year, possibly before Dec. 1, Morton said here Sunday night. He said it would be March or midspring before construction could start.

Morton, who accompanied President Nixon on his trip to Alaska to meet Japanese Emperor Hirohito, commented during a reception for members of the Allied Daily Newspapers of Washington.

Morton said the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., the combine of oil firms which proposes to build the 800-mile line, has agreed to allow the Interior Department to stop construction if it is not satisfied environmental requirements are being met.

Morton said virtually all reports on the pipeline were in from other government agencies, including the departments of commerce and defense, and added: "I can't foresee any difficulties with any of them."

The pipeline has been opposed by conservationists and Alaska native groups who fear it could harm the arctic ecology along its route from the Alaskan North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez. Opponents also have argued that fishing grounds would be endangered by the possibility of oil spills at the line's southern terminus on the Gulf of Alaska.

Danish Prime Minister Resigns

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Prime Minister Hilmar Baunsgaard resigned today but immediately agreed to head a caretaker government that will run Denmark until an electoral standoff can be resolved.

The stalemate resulted from parliamentary elections a week ago which left Baunsgaard's ruling coalition with a 88-87 majority—too thin, party leaders agreed, to form a workable government.

Only when elections are held in the Faroe Islands on Oct. 5, and when two legislators from Greenland make up their minds which party to support, can a coalition jell with strength enough to run the country.

Court Asked To Investigate Political Fund

Key GOP Races Said Involved In Money's Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause, the self-styled citizens lobby, has asked a federal court to order a former White House aide to open his records on an estimated $2 million pumped into key Republican races for the Senate last year.

Attorneys for Nixon fundraiser Jack A. Gleason are fighting the court move with a request to curtail any pretrial questioning and keep his testimony sealed under court order.

The move to open the records is part of a Common Cause suit filed against the Republican and Democratic parties to enforce present federal limits on campaign contributions and spending.

Gleason left the White House last fall to run the fund-raising effort that channeled as much as $2 million into a dozen states where GOP candidates were locked in tight races trying to win control of the Senate.

A number of President Nixon's ambassadors have been identified as donors through Gleason. Other Nixon backers, including two members of the Republican National Finance Committee, also steered money through him, according to a GOP campaign official in one key state.

Gleason's court motion two weeks ago asked the pretrial questioning be limited to the fall of 1968 when Gleason was a major Nixon presidential fundraiser as assistant chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee.

It said any deposition taken from Gleason should be sealed and then "opened only by order of the court." To do otherwise, Gleason's attorneys said, would cause him "unreasonable annoyance, embarrassment and oppression."

Common Cause, in a 10-page reply last week, said "any embarrassment which he may encounter is the product of his own efforts."

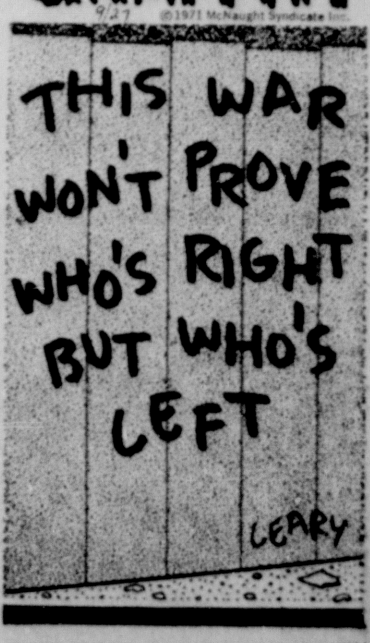

Gleason has refused to comment to newsmen on the fund-raising activities.

Women Judges Mum On High Court Changes

By ANN BLACKMAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three women President Nixon has appointed to the federal bench are exercising judicious, if not judicial, discretion, each declining to comment on her chances of becoming the first female Supreme Court justice.

Although no one can be sure of the President's support, Mrs. Nixon told reporters Thursday she was "talking it up" with her husband to appoint a woman to the high court. She mentioned that the President had appointed three women to federal courts—Cornelia G. Kennedy of the U.S. District Court in Michigan and Sylvia Bacon and Normalie Holloway Johnson, both of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

In case "they don't get one this time," Mrs. Nixon said, "they're grooming them."

They'll be moved up to other courts."

The next day, Mrs. Nixon said the White House is giving careful consideration to the idea of a woman on the court, but added: "The trouble is, the best qualified women are too old."

In addition to the three women singled out by Mrs. Nixon, others being mentioned in speculation include Shirley M. Hufstetler, who as a member of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is the nation's highest-ranking woman judge; Rita Hauser, a New York Republican once named by Nixon as a United Nations representative, and Mary Gardner Jones, a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

President Nixon, asked Thursday night about the possibility of appointing a woman, told the Detroit Economic Club that he is more interested in a candidate's judicial philosophy than anything else, and reiterated that he wants nominees who are "strict constructionists" of the Constitution.

Judge Kennedy, 48, of Grosse Pointe Woods was the first woman in Michigan history appointed to the federal bench. She is regarded by her colleagues as a moderate in her application of the law.

Armstrong Backs Sales Tax Hike

State Senator Harry L. Armstrong (R-Logan) reported following "Governor Gilligan's admission that all hopes of a personal income tax had collapsed, the Ohio Senate took swift, bold and responsible action in the passage of a budget to fund state operations for the 1971-72 biennium."

The new budget calls for state appropriations totaling $1.5 billion for education, or an increase of $371.5 million for elementary and secondary education. This represents $130 million more than has ever been appropriated in any past biennium.

The Senate-passed version of the budget will be principally funded with a one and one-half per cent increase in the state sales tax and a three and one-half to six and one-half per cent income tax on corporations.

The bill includes $30 million for a homestead tax exemption for property owners past 65 years of age who live in their own homes, and $11.2 million for local police and firemen's pension funds.

Senator Armstrong noted "The new budget passed by the Senate provides for the needs of the State without the frills and excesses that were contained in the Governor's proposal. The taxes needed to support the new budget will be equitable, and everyone will pay a fair share."

"This budget was passed only after the most careful consideration of the State's needs. It will do the job without placing unreasonable burdens on the taxpayers of Ohio," Armstrong said.

"With the necessity of keeping schools open and maintaining all state services, it was imperative that we find an acceptable source of revenue to do the job," Armstrong said.

"In view of the federal freeze on prices and wages, and the intent of the U.S. Congress to lower income taxes, it was believed that it was in the best interest of all Ohioans to adopt the low level budget, rather than the Governor's massive original proposal that would have included a 1 to 8 per cent tax on personal income."

"With the modest increase in the sales tax, all of the new revenue collected will go directly to provide services for the citizens of Ohio. The machinery for collected sales tax is already in operation, so there will be no additional administrative costs, Armstrong said."

Ousted Soviets To Give Up Life In British 'Paradise'

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Many of the Russians branded as spies by Britain live near Karl Marx's grave in the kind of comfort he never enjoyed.

The Soviet officials live on an exclusive housing development called Holly Lodge Estate, complete with Tudor-style apartment buildings, expensive houses, tree-shaded lawns, rambling rosebushes and a spectacular view of London.

The Russians keep to themselves on their hillside estate in the Highgate District and usually turn down invitations to local parties.

English neighbors occasionally hear them singing Russian songs at parties or see the men playing soccer at nearby Hampstead Heath while the wives and children walk around Highgate ponds.

Among the 105 diplomats and other Russian officials ordered expelled on spy charges, those at Holly Lodge Estate packed their bags over the weekend and—as usual—kept to themselves.

Some 50 Russian families live on the estate, once owned by Baroness Burdett-Coutts and now dubbed "Little Moscow." It's near the Highgate Cemetery grave of Marx, the German-born father of communism, who died penniless in 1883 after living in scruffy working-class parts of London.

The Russians living in fashionable Highgate include N. V. Nikitkin, a banker who drives to work from his mansion in a big Daimler limousine.

He's chairman of the Moscow Narodny Bank, which finances East-West trade. His bank is one of the Soviet organizations here accused of harboring spies. The others include the Soviet Embassy and the big Trade mission at Highgate near Holly Lodge Estate.

Police Strike Hits Quebec

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (AP) — Scores of Quebec police posts were closed and many others manned only by supervisory personnel early today following a massive walk-out by policemen to dramatize a pay dispute with the provincial government.

Hundreds of provincial policemen began their walkout late Sunday afternoon to take part in a 24-hour "study session" called during a rally at Drummondville 75 miles northeast of Montreal.

The walkout began at the urging of Guy Mignan, president of the Quebec Provincial Policemen's Association.

A spokesman for the police association said the study sessions "could carry on indefinitely" until a positive settlement is achieved in the group's effort to gain full compensation at time-and-a-half rates for extra shifts worked during last October's kidnap crisis.

The government has offered to pay time-and-a-half for half of the extra hours and compensatory time off for the rest.

Individual Tax Relief Gains In House-Fashioned Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress passes the refashioned tax-revision bill, it will be betting that consumer spending—rather than business investment—is what the economy needs for a quick recovery.

President Nixon's recommendations emphasized swelling business cash flow in the months ahead, on grounds that orders for equipment would create a jobs boom and strengthen U.S. plants competitively for the long pull.

The extent to which the House Ways and Means Committee reversed the emphasis is underlined by new figures refining the first rough estimates of what would come of the committee's changes.

Instead of the $1.6-billion tax break on this year's business income that would have come from the Nixon version of the investment credit, business might have a somewhat higher, than present tax bill, resulting from the committee's changes both in the investment credit proposal and the fast-depreciation rules. The estimate is $600 million, above what existing law and rules would provide.

But where Nixon proposed no reduction in individual taxes on 1971 income, the committee wrote in cuts estimated at almost $1.4 billion.

In the years after 1973, business could be better off under the committee bill than under Nixon's. The permanent investment-credit rate would be 2 per cent higher and the restriction on fast depreciation would tend to taper off.

The marked difference comes in the tax treatment of income for 1971 and 1972, regarded as crucial years economically—and politically as well.

For 1972, the committee approved the $2.2-billion one-time individual income tax cut Nixon asked and added provisions reducing low-income taxes $1 billion for that year, more later.

One reason for the committee's favorable treatment of individuals, especially those at the low end of the income range, is concern about two developments that might pinch consumers' pocketbooks in the early months of 1972 just when it is hoped recovery will be picking up steam.

The Tax withholding tables are out of balance with present incomes and working-couple patterns, the Treasury acknowledged in testimony, and there is no chance of revising them thoroughly until next year.

Moreover, Social Security taxes go up next year even under present law.

For many, the extra tax would more than offset the modest income tax relief Nixon proposed. But the committee's reductions in individual income tax would serve as an offset, and presumably would reduce pressure to postpone the Social Security tax increases.

Connally Downplays Gold Importance As Trade Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally says gold should lose its glitter as a world currency standard, declaring that a dollar-devaluing boost in its price would fail to break the international monetary deadlock.

But, while downplaying the role of gold as the keystone to the world monetary system, Connally left the devaluation issue unsettled, dodging a direct question on whether it is a negotiable item in international discussions.

The gold-price question dominated as delegates to the 118-nation International Monetary Fund gathered today for what may turn out to be its most important meeting in its 27-year history.

President Nixon ripped the foundation from the monetary system by cutting the dollar loose from its tie with gold on Aug. 15. The President also imposed a 10-per-cent import surcharge in an effort to reduce the nation's growing balance-of-payments deficit.

"The United States has no hangup, no fixation, with gold," Connally told newsmen Sunday. "We're not committed to the mythology of gold. We would hope that the role of gold in the IMF would indeed be diminished."

The secretary, however, may find that wishful thinking for the moment. In Europe and Japan, there is almost unanimous pressure for a dollar devaluation through raising the price of gold to help achieve currency realignments.

But the United States appeared to win at least one concession on the gold-price question at a meeting of the "Group of Ten," the finance ministers and central bankers from the major non-Communist nations.

In hammering out a three-sided approach to resolving the monetary impasse by the end of the year, the officials focused on currency realignment as the top priority without mentioning the price of gold.

The major U.S. trading partners also appeared to have won a concession from the American delegation. One of the key issues agreed upon for discussion this year is elimination of the import surcharge.

President Nixon said last week the United States will not remove the surcharge until a permanent solution to the world monetary system is found.

Connally said the United States is prepared to remove the surcharge "when we become convinced that a formula is reached that would rectify our balance-of-payments deficit."

Analysts said the market was reacting to uncertainty over what might follow the current phase of President Nixon's economic program and to news of continuing pressure on the dollar in international monetary circles.

Money For Yablonski Trial Poll Sought

Dog Fuss Heard In County Court

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer today denied a request for a permanent injunction against a dog kennel in the Swackhammer Addition, but ordered the defendant to comply with certain restrictions during the case's pendency.

Hershel Rose filed the action seeking restraints on the operation of a neighbor, Perry Shockley. Shockley owns about 25 dogs which he keeps in his yard. Various complaints have been registered about the noise and odor of the establishment. The county health board, dog warden or prosecutor have reportedly provided no aid in curtailing the business, which also is in violation of the residential zoning as a commercial business, Rose contends.

Within 90 days, Ammer ordered Shockley to remove eight cages along the property line which adjoins Rose's land and home. Any increase in the number of dogs on the premises was prohibited and the owner was told to take all steps to keep the place clean and quiet. Final hearing on the matter will be delayed until spring.

A number of homeowners from the area have indicated their disagreement with the judge's order and stated they intend to hire their own attorney to have the dogs removed completely.

Under the Governor's proposal, a new level of bureaucracy would have been created — at a cost to the taxpayer of some $40 million dollars a year to collect the additional state income tax," he said.

"By including the homestead exemption in the Senate bill, we are fulfilling a platform commitment made to the people of Ohio by the Republican Party, and providing a property tax reduction to the people who need it most," Armstrong said.

Chillicothe Man Cited Following I-Car Accident

Leroy L. Seeley, Chillicothe, was apprehended by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lowell Ferguson and charged with reckless operation after Ferguson found a license plate belonging to Seeley at the site of an accident on State Route 104, 6 1/2 miles south of Circleville.

Seeley allegedly was traveling north on Route 104 when he lost control of his car and slammed into 5 steel posts, 2 wooden posts, and 84-feet of fence owned by Richard Simpkins, 513 N. Court St., and a traffic sign and post owned by the State Highway Department.

He was also cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

Today's Doctor Of Chiropractic

The present day doctor of chiropractic is not only well equipped in the basic sciences, classroom, and laboratory study, but undergoes many hours of clinical practice under supervision before graduation. The graduate of an accredited chiropractic college has attended a minimum of 4000 class hours. Many states today require two years pre-chiropractic preparation in a Liberal Arts College or University. The doctor of chiropractic must, in many states, pass a medical basic science examination plus a chiropractic examination before receiving his license to practice. Today's doctor of chiropractic is well qualified to give you modern health care.

Ousted Soviets To Give Up Life In British 'Paradise'

By ANTHONY COLLINGS Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Many of the Russians branded as spies by Britain live near Karl Marx's grave in the kind of comfort he never enjoyed.

The Soviet officials live on an exclusive housing development called Holly Lodge Estate, complete with Tudor-style apartment buildings, expensive houses, tree-shaded lawns, rambling rosebushes and a spectacular view of London.

The Russians keep to themselves on their hillside estate in the Highgate District and usually turn down invitations to local parties.

English neighbors occasionally hear them singing Russian songs at parties or see the men playing soccer at nearby Hampstead Heath while the wives and children walk around Highgate ponds.

Among the 105 diplomats and other Russian officials ordered expelled on spy charges, those at Holly Lodge Estate packed their bags over the weekend and—as usual—kept to themselves.

Some 50 Russian families live on the estate, once owned by Baroness Burdett-Coutts and now dubbed "Little Moscow." It's near the Highgate Cemetery grave of Marx, the German-born father of communism, who died penniless in 1883 after living in scruffy working-class parts of London.

The Russians living in fashionable Highgate include N. V. Nikitkin, a banker who drives to work from his mansion in a big Daimler limousine.

He's chairman of the Moscow Narodny Bank, which finances East-West trade. His bank is one of the Soviet organizations here accused of harboring spies. The others include the Soviet Embassy and the big Trade mission at Highgate near Holly Lodge Estate.

Medina Talks To Callers Over Radio

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Capt. Ernest Medina, looking trim and keeping cool, sat in an Atlanta radio station studio and with ease fielded telephoned questions about My Lai and advice on his future.

Asked if he failed in his responsibility by not conducting an immediate investigation after the My Lai assault, Medina answered: "Yes. I did fail in that responsibility as a company commander."

Medina, acquitted last Wednesday of murder charges in the slaying of more than 100 civilians in the My Lai sweep 3 1/2 years ago, said he did see an estimated 20 to 28 dead civilians on a trail near the hamlet.

"I wanted to believe they were killed by artillery and gunshot fire," he said, rather than by troops of Charlie Company, which he commanded.

Medina appeared Sunday night on the WGST program "Confrontation."

Several callers insisted that Medina not resign from the Army after 16 years of service. But the captain, responding with quiet "thank you's," confirmed that he will resign sometime this week.

Soviet Atom Test Is Recorded

UPSALA, Sweden (AP) — A powerful underground nuclear explosion in the Novaya Zemlya area of Russia was recorded by the Swedish Seismological Institution here today.

"The explosion had a magnitude of 6.7 on the Richter scale and was nearly an exact copy of the Novaya Zemlya blast registered on Oct. 14 last year and then considered the most powerful underground explosion ever staged," an institution spokesman said.

Every fall the last few years a series of underground nuclear tests with at least one powerful blast have taken place on Novaya Zemlya, an island in the Arctic Ocean north of Archangel.

Individual Tax Relief Gains In House-Fashioned Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress passes the refashioned tax-revision bill, it will be betting that consumer spending—rather than business investment—is what the economy needs for a quick recovery.

President Nixon's recommendations emphasized swelling business cash flow in the months ahead, on grounds that orders for equipment would create a jobs boom and strengthen U.S. plants competitively for the long pull.

The extent to which the House Ways and Means Committee reversed the emphasis is underlined by new figures refining the first rough estimates of what would come of the committee's changes.

Instead of the $1.6-billion tax break on this year's business income that would have come from the Nixon version of the investment credit, business might have a somewhat higher, than present tax bill, resulting from the committee's changes both in the investment credit proposal and the fast-depreciation rules. The estimate is $600 million, above what existing law and rules would provide.

But where Nixon proposed no reduction in individual taxes on 1971 income, the committee wrote in cuts estimated at almost $1.4 billion.

In the years after 1973, business could be better off under the committee bill than under Nixon's. The permanent investment-credit rate would be 2 per cent higher and the restriction on fast depreciation would tend to taper off.

The marked difference comes in the tax treatment of income for 1971 and 1972, regarded as crucial years economically—and politically as well.

For 1972, the committee approved the $2.2-billion one-time individual income tax cut Nixon asked and added provisions reducing low-income taxes $1 billion for that year, more later.

One reason for the committee's favorable treatment of individuals, especially those at the low end of the income range, is concern about two developments that might pinch consumers' pocketbooks in the early months of 1972 just when it is hoped recovery will be picking up steam.

The Tax withholding tables are out of balance with present incomes and working-couple patterns, the Treasury acknowledged in testimony, and there is no chance of revising them thoroughly until next year.

Moreover, Social Security taxes go up next year even under present law.

For many, the extra tax would more than offset the modest income tax relief Nixon proposed. But the committee's reductions in individual income tax would serve as an offset, and presumably would reduce pressure to postpone the Social Security tax increases.

Connally Downplays Gold Importance As Trade Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally says gold should lose its glitter as a world currency standard, declaring that a dollar devaluing boost in its price would fail to break the international monetary deadlock.

But, while downplaying the role of gold as the keystone to the world monetary system, Connally left the devaluation issue unsettled, dodging a direct question on whether it is a negotiable item in international discussions.

The gold-price question dominated as delegates to the 118-nation International Monetary Fund gathered today for what may turn out to be its most important meeting in its 27-year history.

President Nixon ripped the foundation from the monetary system by cutting the dollar loose from its tie with gold on Aug. 15. The President also imposed a 10-per-cent import surcharge in an effort to reduce the nation's growing balance-of-payments deficit.

"The United States has no hangup, no fixation, with gold," Connally told newsmen Sunday. "We're not committed to the mythology of gold. We would hope that the role of gold in the IMF would indeed be diminished."

The secretary, however, may find that wishful thinking for the moment. In Europe and Japan, there is almost unanimous pressure for a dollar devaluation through raising the price of

Deaths

MR. GEORGE ARLEDGE

Services for Mr. George Arledge, 95, 143 Cottage Hill, who died in his sleep Saturday morning will be 3 p.m. Monday at Deffenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. John DeMint officiating. Burial will be in Hitler-Ludwig Cemetery.

Born June 4, 1876 in Pickaway County, he was the son of Lewis and Sarah McCabe Arledge.

He was twice married, first to Mary Virginia Jones and second to Lieutitia Boysel. Both are deceased.

Survivors include two sons, Lawrence, Columbus; John, Williamsport; one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth (Margaret) Brooks, Pataskala; 10 grandchildren.

Brooks-Yates School Seeks Additional Bus

Don Hough, of the Brooks-Yates School and the Retarded Workshop, met with Pickaway County Commissioners today to discuss the possibility of purchasing another school bus for the school.

Hough noted there were more youngsters enrolled this year and a van currently in use is not large enough.

Commissioners asked him to present a written request stating the reasons the bus was needed and the specifications of the vehicle.

Dog Fuss Heard In County Court

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer today denied a request for a permanent injunction against a dog kennel in the Swackhammer Addition, but ordered the defendant to comply with certain restrictions during the case's pendency.

Hershel Rose filed the action seeking restraints on the operation of a neighbor, Perry Shockley. Shockley owns about 25 dogs which he keeps in his yard. Various complaints have been registered about the noise and odor of the establishment. The county health board, dog warden or prosecutor have reportedly provided no aid in curtailing the business, which also is in violation of the residential zoning as a commercial business, Rose contends.

Within 90 days, Ammer ordered Shockley to remove eight cages along the property line which adjoins Rose's land and home. Any increase in the number of dogs on the premises was prohibited and the owner was told to take all steps to keep the place clean and quiet. Final hearing on the matter will be delayed until spring.

A number of homeowners from the area have indicated their disagreement with the judge's order and stated they intend to hire their own attorney to have the dogs removed completely.

Children To Benefit From Eagles Dinner

Circleville Eagles Lodge is sponsoring a benefit Chicken Noodle Supper Saturday, all proceeds of which will be used to help defray medical expenses for the families of two local youngsters.

The money will be used to help the Dennis Mogan family, Mound St., whose 1 1/2-year-old son Dennis is a victim of leukemia, and the Michael Farleigh family of Route 2, Laurelville, whose daughter Robin, 1 1/2, is suffering from a kidney ailment.

Serving will be from 4-8 p.m. Saturday at the Eagles Lodge on W. Main St.

Stock List Dips Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued their steady downward drift today in slow trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 5.84 at 883.47.

Declines outnumbered advances on the New York Stock Exchange by 8 to 3.

Analysts said the market was reacting to uncertainty over what might follow the current phase of President Nixon's economic program and to news of continuing pressure on the dollar in international monetary circles.

Money For Yablonski Trial Poll Sought

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — The lawyer for one of five persons charged in the 1969 Yablonski slayings was to ask a Washington County judge today to approve funding of a public opinion poll which he says will show his client cannot receive a fair trial here.

Mark Goldberg, representing Aubran Martin, 22, said the hearing would be the first step toward a request for a change of location of the trial. Goldberg says public opinion would prejudice the outcome.

Dear Abby: Children's Fanciful Mistakes

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the parents of the 10-year-old girl who claimed she was molested by a neighbor was dangerously wrong.

You suggested the parents talk to the man and threaten him with exposure to his wife and or the authorities unless he submitted at once to a psychiatric examination and treatment. All of this due to the quite elaborate and unverified story of a 10-year-old girl.

Many good men have been damaged by fanciful stories told by little girls. In your haste to find the man guilty, you overlook the possibility that the girl could be the one needing psychiatric help. Your advice could be harmful to an innocent man. Sign me . . .

DEAR DOUBTFUL: Thank you for your intelligent letter. You could be right. But what "harm" could be done to an innocent man by insisting that he have a psychiatric examination? If he denied the story, then a confrontation with his accuser would follow, and soon one or the other would be tripped up in his (or her) lies.

If you think my solution is "harmful," then please suggest a better one.

DEAR ABBY: Some "Worried Parents" wrote in saying their 10-year-old daughter had told them that a neighbor man had shown her some dirty books, tried to "wrestle" with her, and told her some dirty jokes in an attempt to take advantage of her. You advised the parents to talk to the man, calmly, tell him that no healthy-minded man behaves in that manner, and if he didn't voluntarily submit to a psychiatric examination, to threaten to tell his wife and the authorities. Do you realize, Dear Abby, that you are suggesting blackmail?

Did it ever occur to you that the little girl could have made up the story about the man and that he could be innocent? The only thing the parents have to go on is what their 10-year-old daughter told them and some children have very wild imaginations.

INCENSED IN N.Y. DEAR INCENSED: Yes, it occurred to me that the child could have been lying. That's why I advised the parents to talk to the man and give him a chance to defend himself, if indeed he could. Please read the following letter, received today:

DEAR ABBY: The best advice you ever gave was to the woman whose 10-year-old daughter was approached by a neighbor.

I wish someone had given me that advice when my 13-year-old daughter was taken advantage of by a neighbor. I made the terrible mistake of telling my husband about it. Instead of handling the situation in a calm, logical manner, as you suggested, my half-crazed husband ran over and beat the man, injuring him permanently. This resulted in the imprisonment of my husband.

As a result of the publicity and the trial, my daughter ran away from home at 16, and I haven't seen her for two years. She writes and calls occasionally, but she will never live at home with us again.

I can't help thinking that if I would have received your wise advice our family might still be together today. Keep it up, Abby.

LONESOME AND WAITING CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAD THE SAME EXPERIENCE IN OMAHA": Your letter was one of many from readers who disclosed similar stories which had been locked away in their memories for over 40 years. The case of the 10-year-old girl who reported that a middle-aged neighbor man had taken indecent liberties with her was typical.

Unfortunately, statistics of child molesting are sadly incomplete because many parents would prefer to hush it up and let it go than face the publicity and subject their child to the embarrassment of retelling the details of the ugly incident. It's a fair estimate that 90 per cent of all child molesters have been a member of the child's family, a friend of the family, or a friendly neighbor.

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season when the television audience is supposed to be sampling the new shows and establishing new viewing habits. The networks are thus reluctant to pre-empt regularly scheduled shows for special programs for the next month or so—a critical period when the annual ratings race is at top speed.

The weekend, however, brought a couple of treats.

CBS invaded the Sunday afternoon precinct which is almost completely reserved for sports events and old movies with a "Young People's Concert" consisting of Bartok's "Concerto for Orchestra" played by the New York Philharmonic. The orchestra was conducted by violinist Yehudi Menuhin, who described the work and reminisced about the composer. He lacks the wit and drama of Leonard Bernstein as commentator but he kept his remarks short, with the result there was more time than usual for the music.

ABC presented the first Jacques Cousteau special of the season on Sunday night. It was a handsome and unusual study of the Sea Otter, seen mostly as it frolicked and hunted food on the ocean floor.

Cousteau and company filmed northern sea otters in the Arctic waters—on land and in the frigid water. They moved south to the California coast and filmed them amid under-sea forests of kelp, made friends by feeding some of the bolder ones and were even able to show their courting and mating rituals.

Cousteau's gentle philosophizing about the importance of preserving the "chain of nature" was extremely effective. He used as illustration the vital relationship among kelp, the otter and sea urchins, the latter's favorite food, to illustrate the need of maintaining a delicate balance. Scientists and concerned civilians talked of the enemies of the otters and the need of protecting them. Commercial fishermen, who maintain the mammals are destroying the abalone, also had their say. One felt certain that Cousteau was on the side of the otters in the controversy.

There is evidence that the terrible-tempered Archie Bunker of CBS' "All in the Family" may have simmered down over the summer. In Saturday night's show he was erupting over modern art instead of some ethnic group and, most of the time, he was as funny and lovable as he has been ignorant and close-minded.

Perhaps the producers are moving the series into a new area with greater dimensions. Carroll O'Connor blusters and storms around enthusiastically. In Jean Stapleton, playing his wife, he has a strong and highly effective comedy backstop. It is a series with no middle ground: you love it or you avoid it.

The orchestra was conducted by violinist Yehudi Menuhin, who described the work and reminisced about the composer. He lacks the wit and drama of Leonard Bernstein as commentator but he kept his remarks short, with the result there was more time than usual for the music.

over modern art instead of some ethnic group and, most of the time, he was as funny and lovable as he has been ignorant and close-minded.

Perhaps the producers are moving the series into a new area with greater dimensions. Carroll O'Connor blusters and storms around enthusiastically. In Jean Stapleton, playing his wife, he has a strong and highly effective comedy backstop. It is a series with no middle ground: you love it or you avoid it.

Creative Challenge

Maintaining the American economy at this point in time are 85 million workers. These are the people who produce the products and services, support those who are unemployed and otherwise spend their paychecks to keep the pumps of the economy primed.

In less than 10 years they will have to make room on the assembly lines, in the shops and offices for an additional 15 million people. That is how many new workers will be coming into the labor force between now and 1980.

With the economy already undergoing a disruptive change from war to peace, where are these 15 million new workers to be employed? It is a question in need of sharp answers and they better not be long in coming.

It is not enough to expect demand to increase sufficiently to employ them. Demand for what, and in what form? The trend has been toward service jobs in recent years. What services, and how many can they employ?

The trend also has been toward greater automation, both in factories and in offices. How will this help employ millions of new workers? These are challenging questions and they cannot be avoided. Finding the answers will test American ingenuity and creativity severely.

Ruble Revaluation

Lost in the shuffle over the American dollar devaluation, and the worldwide repercussions from that action, was the Russian announcement that the ruble would also be revalued in terms of the dollar. Most monetary experts who took the time to notice must have chuckled at that.

The ruble, as it happens, is an artificial currency valued at whatever the Kremlin says it is. For that reason, the Russians will not trade their currency on world monetary markets. They pay for their obligations to the outside world in other countries' hard currencies, or when that runs out in gold, which fortunately for them is one of their natural resources.

Now that the United States no longer is in the gold business, the Russians are faced with a problem. They will have to accumulate larger reserves of hard currencies if they wish to extend their trade with the West.

That could be a major reason for the ruble revaluation. To extract more dollars from tourists. That source remains the only contact the ruble has with the outside world.

Flying The Coop

Even homing pigeons are confused. An estimated 20,000 of the birds failed to return to their lofts after they were set free by a British racing federation. Valued at $600,000, the loss was described as the worst disaster in the history of homing pigeon racing.

"One can only assume," said a spokesman for the race, "that the birds ran into a fog belt, turned around and went the other way. They could now be either in Scotland or on the continent."

That is one possibility, but after generations of building a reputation for unerring accuracy in finding their way home under the most difficult of circumstances, it seems that more than fog must have disrupted the birds homing instincts. Especially in Britain, where fog is not an unknown hazard.

Perhaps like fledglings of another species they simply tired of the competitive spirit and established a commune. If so, they will return as soon as their corn reserves run out.

Sweet peril: The death rate from diabetes rose dramatically—even tripling in some countries—during a recent 12-year period, according to a World Health Organization study. Physicians cited the rising use of carbohydrates in the diet as a major cause.

Strong medicine: In Russia, some doctors use a mixture of garlic extract and vodka to treat gout and rheumatism and to dissolve kidney stones. Patients find the mixture doesn't do much for the breath but does make them feel better.

Out on a limb: What is the best shade tree? Basing their choices on artistic preference, disease resistance, and success in planting, a group of landscapers listed these as the top 10 shade trees: pin oak, red maple, honey locust, sugar maple, red oak, linden, ash, Norway maple, sweet gum and birch. Hey, fellows, how about the good old American elm?

It was John Ruskin who observed, "The first test of a truly great man is his humility."

Dear Mrs. W.: The red blood cells that circulate throughout the body carry oxygen to all the organs in the body and to the smallest vessels at the tips of the fingers and the toes. The oxygen is then released to nourish tissue.

After releasing the oxygen the cells return to the lungs to replenish their supply and then once again are sent out by the heart on their lifesaving life sustaining process.

In some forms of anemia there is a deficient number of red blood cells and there may be an inadequate supply of oxygen to the brain and other organs.

People with marked anemia sometimes have a sense of faintness and general coldness in high altitudes and even in pressurized airplanes.

It is wise therefore, to consult your physician for the added assurance he may offer if there is any special concern.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you tell me what gastritis is and how it differs from a nervous stomach?

Mr. J. N., Conn.

Dear Mr. J.: "Nervous stomach" is a poor name and without real medical meaning. People use the phrase loosely far too often trying to describe almost any type of vague symptom in the intestinal tract.

There is no doubt that emotional tension plays a most important role in stomach and intestinal distress. But it is a mistake to attribute all symptoms to nervousness. It is much wiser to seek the guidance of a doctor for any condition that lasts an unexpectedly long time.

"Gastritis" is a very specific sudden irritation or inflammation of the lining of the stomach. This can be caused by the ingestion of alcohol, highly spiced or unsuitable foods, or almost every conceivable kind of drug.

Allergy to foods and a reaction to the topic products in spoiled foods may cause acute gastritis with a wide variety of symptoms that cannot be evaluated without the help of a doctor.

I suggested that marked anemia might be one of the reasons why some people should not fly. Can you tell me the reason for this?

Mrs. J. M. W., S. C.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 27, the 270th day of 1971. There are 95 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1964, the Warren Commission issued its report concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

On this date: In 1779, John Adams was named to negotiate American peace terms with Britain.

In 1825, in England, George Stephenson operated the first locomotive to haul a passenger train.

In 1854, the first great disaster to an Atlantic liner occurred when the steamship Arctic sank with 300 persons aboard.

In 1904, a woman was arrested for smoking a cigarette on Fifth Avenue in New York.

In 1939, during World War II, Warsaw, Poland, surrendered to the Germans.

In 1940, a pact was signed in Germany setting up the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis.

Ten years ago: Former Vice president Richard M. Nixon announced that he would seek the governorship of California.

Five years ago: Two U.S. Marine planes bombed a friendly South Vietnam village by mistake, killing 28 persons.

One year ago: President Nixon began a European trip in Italy.

Today's youths are taller than were their grandfathers when the same age, statistics show. The younger generation is measuring up.

The ancient who first thought up that old saying that "Fine feathers make fine birds" surely must have had in mind that magnificent fellow—the big chested Thanksgiving tom turkey.

HOPING to make time with a lovely, ambitious — and incredibly stupid starlet — a writer told her one day how much further away from the earth the sun was than the moon. The starlet contrived to look enraptured, and gurgled, "That's positively fascinating. You ought to write a book about it!"

If you'll read Mary Phelan's lively "The Story of the Great Chicago Fire, 1871," you'll know that there really was a Mrs. O'Leary, and that the devastating two-day conflagration actually started in her barn. Whether or not one of her cows knocked over the lantern is a moot point, but the resultant blaze—where even the sidewalks were made of wood—destroyed over 17,000 buildings and left a hundred thousand Chicagoans temporarily homeless.

Men like Marshall Field and Cyrus McCormick, however, began building a new Chicago while the ruins of the old were still smoldering.

OVERHEARD:

At the Princeton Club: "They really had the right idea in Leonardo da Vinci's time: he designed flying machines—and nobody built them!"

At a P.T.A. meeting: "Remember away back when bright sayings of children COULD be printed in a family newspaper?" Little girl raised on TV to her father: "Daddy-O, I love you more than any other leading brands!"

Where Arab Wars Start

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I wanted to see Sharm El Sheikh, the strong point at the bottom end of the Siani peninsula which controls the passage from the Red Sea to Israel's southern port of Eilat, because that is the place where two wars have started. It might be called Israel's recurrent Sarajevo, recalling the spot where the archduke was shot and World War I was precipitated.

You fly south to Sharm El Sheikh over some of the most desolate country imaginable. It is the howling Sinai wilderness, which proved such an intractable barrier to the Children of Israel in Moses' time. The winds blow over ridges that are bare to the bone, drier than anything in Arizona or Canada, and when you land at the military airport (no photography allowed, yet nothing worth photographing) you do not marvel at the lady tourist who asks, "What do they want to defend this desolate land for?"

The coast to the immediate north of Sharm El Sheikh, however, is not without its beauty, with the dreaming blue of the Red Sea and the Strait of Tiran leading to the Gulf of Aqaba on one side, and a mountain resembling Camelback, near Phoenix, Ariz., on the other. There is a startling natural rock formation looking for all the world like John F. Kennedy's profile on the way to Sharm El Sheikh itself. You lunch in a huge bubble tent at Diplomats' Beach where the UN soldiers bathed before Egypt's Nasser waved them out and so touched off the 1967 war. Just opposite the islands of Tiran and Sanafir, which Saudi Arabia leased to Egypt in order to give Nasser control of the narrow passage between coral reefs, you see two broken-down cannon bearing the name of King George V of England and the rubric "Honni Soit Qui Mal y Pense." (Evil be to him who evil thinks.) The cannon will never be used again, nor will the ship that lies abandoned on the coral shore near the mangrove swamps.

You swim in the Red Sea in the pure, soft water and you reflect that the Israelis, who are going to keep this spot for military security reasons, though the world falls, will shortly gain a most valuable economic by-product by turning it into a Middle East Acapulco, a magnet for blonde Scandinavians seeking the February sun. The reasons the Israelis win and the Arabs lose in this part of the world is that Israeli competence is capable of turning the most forbidding country into something useful. You are told there is a Grand Canyon back in the mountains of Siani, and one may be sure the Israelis will be making use of that, too.

Despite the lady tourist, you can see why the Israelis must keep a post at Sharm El Sheikh. Yet you are not satisfied that a mere linear strip of coast would be enough to give military safety to the sea lane from the Red Sea up to the Israeli port of Eilat at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba. Ezer Weizmann, the soldier who created the modern Israeli air force, led his paratroopers into Sharm El Sheikh with no opposition in the Six-Day War, but his way had already been cleared by the big tank and air victories in mid-Sinai. The Egyptians at Sharm, with no air cover to protect them, simply ran away into the forbidding mountains.

Right here you hit upon the

Crime On The Rise

LONDON (AP) — Violent crimes in England and Wales soared from 4,800 to 36,000 in the last 20 years.

Records show the professional burglar or robber has a six out of 10 chance of escaping arrest and, if he is caught, a four out of 10 chance of acquittal.

reason for the struggle that is wracking Israel over how much of Sinai the Israelis can afford to give back to Egypt. Weizmann, who heads the Gahal opposition to the ruling coalition in the Knesset, or parliament, insists on keeping the east bank of the Suez Canal in order to protect the focal point of central Siani with the fewest possible number of tanks and Phantom planes. His brother-in-law, the famed Moshe Dayan, is willing, for the sake of quick agreement with Egypt and Soviet Russia on permitting the opening of the Suez Canal, to yield territory in back of Suez.

Weizmann fears progressive "salami slicing" if the Egyptians and their Soviet backers once get a foothold on the Suez east bank. He argues, persuasively, that if it is merely a matter of opening the canal, the trick could be arranged by a mutual withdrawal of a few sides to points within a few miles of the Suez banks. He has a hunch, he says, that the Egyptians' main concern is not to open the canal but to push the Israelis back to a point where they would lack the manpower and the planes to defend their country against a combined Egyptian-Soviet push.

The Soviets have 20,000 men in Egypt, they have MIG-23s flown by Soviet airmen, they are adding the more complicated and fearsome anti-aircraft SAM-6's to the SAM-2's and SAM-3's along the canal. Weizmann does not fear the Russians so long as they remain on the west bank of open water, but he says there would be a parliamentary upheaval if Prime Minister Golda Meir, giving in to big power pressure, let the Soviets move too far into the Siani desert.

Flying back to Lod airport near Tel Aviv from Sharm El Sheikh, and looking down on the triangular wedge of Siani, one could only reflect that the Israelis of both the hawk and dove camps will take a long, long time before deciding where a safe defensive border can be drawn in the Sinai desert.

"Are you sure it wasn't your wife who turned you in?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HOPING to make time with a lovely, ambitious — and incredibly stupid starlet — a writer told her one day how much further away from the earth the sun was than the moon. The starlet contrived to look enraptured, and gurgled, "That's positively fascinating. You ought to write a book about it!"

If you'll read Mary Phelan's lively "The Story of the Great Chicago Fire, 1871," you'll know that there really was a Mrs. O'Leary, and that the devastating two-day conflagration actually started in her barn. Whether or not one of her cows knocked over the lantern is a moot point, but the resultant blaze — where even the sidewalks were made of wood — destroyed over 17,000 buildings and left a hundred thousand Chicagoans temporarily homeless.

Men like Marshall Field and Cyrus McCormick, however, began building a new Chicago while the ruins of the old were still smoldering.

OVERHEARD:

At the Princeton Club: "They really had the right idea in Leonardo da Vinci's time: he designed flying machines — and nobody built them!"

At a P.T.A. meeting: "Remember away back when bright sayings of children COULD be printed in a family newspaper?" Little girl raised on TV to her father: "Daddy-O, I love you more than any other leading brands!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you tell me what gastritis is and how it differs from a nervous stomach?

Mr. J. N., Conn.

Dear Mr. J.: "Nervous stomach" is a poor name and without real medical meaning. People use the phrase loosely far too often trying to describe almost any type of vague symptom in the intestinal tract.

There is no doubt that emotional tension plays a most important role in stomach and intestinal distress. But it is a mistake to attribute all symptoms to nervousness. It is much wiser to seek the guidance of a doctor for any condition that lasts an unexpectedly long time.

"Gastritis" is a very specific sudden irritation or inflammation of the lining of the stomach. This can be caused by the ingestion of alcohol, highly spiced or unsuitable foods, or almost every conceivable kind of drug.

Allergy to foods and a reaction to the topic products in spoiled foods may cause acute gastritis with a wide variety of symptoms that cannot be evaluated without the help of a doctor.

In one of your columns you suggested that marked anemia might be one of the reasons why some people should not fly. Can you tell me the reason for this?

Mrs. J. M. W., S. C.

Dear Mrs. W.: The red blood cells that circulate throughout the body carry oxygen to all the organs in the body and to the smallest vessels at the tips of the fingers and the toes. The oxygen is then released to nourish tissue.

After releasing the oxygen the cells return to the lungs to replenish their supply and then once again are sent out by the heart on their lifesaving life sustaining process.

In some forms of anemia there is a deficient number of red blood cells and there may be an inadequate supply of oxygen to the brain and other organs.

People with marked anemia sometimes have a sense of faintness and general coldness in high altitudes and even in pressurized airplanes.

It is wise therefore, to consult your physician for the added assurance he may offer if there is any special concern.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Despite warnings, modern statistics show that accidents still continue to increase in the "safety" of homes.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 27, the 270th day of 1971. There are 95 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1964, the Warren Commission issued its report concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

On this date: In 1779, John Adams was named to negotiate American peace terms with Britain.

In 1825, in England, George Stephenson operated the first locomotive to haul a passenger train.

In 1834, the first great disaster to an Atlantic liner occurred when the steamship Arctic sank with 300 persons aboard.

In 1904, a woman was arrested for smoking a cigarette on Fifth Avenue in New York.

In 1939, during World War II, Warsaw, Poland, surrendered to the Germans.

In 1940, a pact was signed in Germany setting up the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis.

Ten years ago: Former Vice president Richard M. Nixon announced that he would seek the governorship of California.

Five years ago: Two U.S. Marine planes bombed a friendly South Vietnam village by mistake, killing 28 persons.

One year ago: President Nixon began a European trip in Italy.

Today's youths are taller than were their grandfathers when the same age, statistics show. The younger generation is measuring up.

The ancient who first thought up that old saying that "Fine feathers make fine birds" surely must have had in mind that magnificent fellow — the big chested Thanksgiving tom turkey.

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Sharm El Sheikh, Israel — I wanted to see Sharm El Sheikh, the strong point at the bottom end of the Sinai peninsula which controls the passage from the Red Sea to Israel's southern port of Eilat, because that is the place where two wars have started. It might be called Israel's recurrent Sarajevo, recalling the spot where the archduke was shot and World War I was precipitated.

You fly south to Sharm El Sheikh over some of the most desolate country imaginable. It is the howling Sinai wilderness, which proved such an intractable barrier to the Children of Israel in Moses' time. The winds blow over ridges that are bare to the bone, drier than anything in Arizona or Canada, and when you land at the military airport (no photography allowed, yet nothing worth photographing) you do not marvel at the lady tourist who asks, "What do they want to defend this desolate land for?"

The coast to the immediate north of Sharm El Sheikh, however, is not without its beauty, with the dreaming blue of the Red Sea and the Strait of Tiran leading to the Gulf of Aqaba on one side, and a mountain resembling Camelback, near Phoenix, Ariz., on the other. There is a startling natural rock formation looking for all the world like John F. Kennedy's profile on the way to Sharm El Sheikh itself. You lunch in a huge bubble tent at Diplomats' Beach where the UN soldiers bathed before Egypt's Nasser waved them out and so touched off the 1967 war. Just opposite the islands of Tiran and Sanafir, which Saudi Arabia leased to Egypt in order to give Nasser control of the narrow passage between coral reefs, you see two broken-down cannon bearing the name of King George V of England and the rubric "Honni Soit Qui Mal y Pense." (Evil be to him who evil thinks.) The cannon will never be used again, nor will the ship that lies abandoned on the coral shore near the mangrove swamps.

You swim in the Red Sea in the pure, soft water and you reflect that the Israelis, who are going to keep this spot for military security reasons, though the world falls, will shortly gain a most valuable economic by-product by turning it into a Middle East Acapulco, a magnet for blonde Scandinavians seeking the February sun. The reasons the Israelis win and the Arabs lose in this part of the world is that Israeli competence is capable of turning the most forbidding country into something useful. You are told there is a Grand Canyon back in the mountains of Sinai, and one may be sure the Israelis will be making use of that, too.

Despite the lady tourist, you can see why the Israelis must keep a post at Sharm El Sheikh. Yet you are not satisfied that a mere linear strip of coast would be enough to give military safety to the sea lane from the Red Sea up to the Israeli port of Eilat at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba. Ezer Weizmann, the soldier who created the modern Israeli air force, led his paratroopers into Sharm El Sheikh with no opposition in the Six-Day War, but his way had already been cleared by the big tank and air victories in mid-Sinai. The Egyptians at Sharm, with no air cover to protect them, simply ran away into the forbidding mountains.

Right here you hit upon the

Crime On The Rise

LONDON (AP) — Violent crimes in England and Wales soared from 4,800 to 36,000 in the last 20 years.

Records show the professional burglar or robber has a six out of 10 chance of escaping arrest and, if he is caught, a four out of 10 chance of acquittal.

reason for the struggle that is wracking Israel over how much of Sinai the Israelis can afford to give back to Egypt. Weizmann, who heads the Gahal opposition to the ruling coalition in the Knesset, or parliament, insists on keeping the east bank of the Suez Canal in order to protect the focal point of central Sinai with the fewest possible number of tanks and Phantom planes. His brother-in-law, the famed Moshe Dayan, is willing, for the sake of quick agreement with Egypt and Soviet Russia on permitting the opening of the Suez Canal, to yield territory in back of Suez.

Weizmann fears progressive "salami slicing" if the Egyptians and their Soviet backers once get a foothold on the Suez east bank. He argues, persuasively, that if it is merely a matter of opening the canal, the trick could be arranged by a mutual withdrawal of both sides to points within a few miles of the Suez banks. He has a hunch, he says, that the Egyptians' main concern is not to open the canal but to push the Israelis back to a point where they would lack the manpower and the planes to defend their country against a combined Egyptian-Soviet push.

The Soviets have 20,000 men in Egypt, they have MIG-23s flown by Soviet airmen, they are adding the more complicated and fearsome anti-aircraft SAM-6's to the SAM-2's and SAM-3's along the canal. Weizmann does not fear the Russians so long as they remain on the west bank of open water, but he says there would be a parliamentary upheaval if Prime Minister Golda Meir, giving in to big power pressure, let the Soviets move too far into the Sinai desert.

Flying back to Lod airport near Tel Aviv from Sharm El Sheikh, and looking down on the triangular wedge of Sinai, one could only reflect that the Israelis of both the hawk and dove camps will take a long, long time before deciding where a safe defensive border can be drawn in the Sinai desert.

assistant coaches.

Varsity cheerleaders who add spirit to the games are Wendy Brown — captain, Susan Lowry, and Linda Sanderson, seniors; Jill Ehman, Vickie Gochenour, and Debbie Lowry, juniors. Cheerleader advisors are Miss Linda Warner and Mrs. Abigail Robinson.

Viking football squadmen have played two of their nine-game schedule, losing 40-6 to Bishop Wehrle September 10 and 36-6 to Circleville on September 17. Both games were played at Teays Valley. The squad is young and inexperienced, but the second half of the Wehrle game and the first half of the Circleville game the team was impressive. It was felt the squad had improved quite noticeably the week between games.

The remainder of the schedule is:
Oct. 1, Franklin Heights
Oct. 8 at West Jefferson
Oct. 15 at Hamilton Township
Oct. 22 Dublin

Four Teachers Hospitalized In September

By PAM HANNAH and JANIS HOFF

This school year started with several teachers being hospitalized. It is hoped that they are all better and that those who have not returned will soon be able to return.

Richard Snider, principal, was in the hospital for 17 days after suffering a heart attack in mid-August. He hopes to return to school about the middle of October. When asked if he missed school, Snider replied, "Yes, I really do!"

Phillip Everett is assuming the duties of principal until Mr. Snider returns.

Dale Allen has been in the hospital all school year. He should be released soon. However, he will not be able to come back to teach biology before the end of the first six weeks.

Mrs. John Brinker, Route 2 Ashville, has been teaching in his place.

Mrs. Betty Midkiff, art teacher, was hospitalized for tests at the beginning of the school year. Miss Janet Snyder of Ashville substituted for Mrs. Midkiff who returned to school Sept. 21.

Howard Weaver, guidance counselor, was hospitalized with a virus several days the second week of school. He returned to school Sept. 13.

Reserve, Frosh Cheerleaders Named For Year

By SHARON REED

Members of the reserve cheerleading squad are: Peggy Everett, captain; Betty Brown, Connie Morrison, Jan Roberts, and Pam Younkin. Peggy is a senior this year; the other four girls are sophomores.

Freshman cheerleading squad members are: Susie Glitt, captain; Brenda Brinker, Rhonda Ford, Kim Glick, Debbie Meyers, and Lori Stewart.

Miss Linda Warner and Mrs. Abigail Robinson are advisers for the squads.

TVHS Ag Students Attend Review

Agriculture students, accompanied by Ray Noecker, teacher, took an all-day field trip to the Farm Science Review Sept. 22. Thousands attended the Review to see, to touch, to ask, to learn about the newest in farming methods and machinery.

The Review was held Sept. 21, 22 and 23 on 700 acres of Ohio State University farmland near Don Scott Airfield just northwest of the Columbus city limits. About $5,000,000 worth of the most advanced equipment was on display.

Manager Dale Friday said of the Review, "You can't afford to miss this farm event because picking up just one idea or seeing just one piece of equipment you can use to advantage could far more than pay the expense of visiting the Review."

A New School Year Begins For Teays Valley Band

By VICKIE EDMUNDS

On Sept. 10 the Teays Valley marching band played a dedication to Bert Bacharach on the football field during the half of TV's first game of the season against Wehrle.

The band was led onto the field by the new majorettes who are head Paula Null, Lois Sayre, Kathy Hoffman, Pam Younkin and Janet Gulick. The banner girls this year are Karen Green and Kathy Null. After the performance by the majorettes, Suzi Ervin, who recently moved to Kentucky, came back as guest to TV to twirl during the last part of the halftime show.

The following Tuesday the marching band traveled by bus to Orient for the first day of a three-day festival. The students were accompanied by their director, Drexel Poling. The band played a selection of songs two of which were "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head" and "Peter Gunn."

Sept. 18, the band appeared before about 3,000 people at Ohio University for a band day. Good luck this year to all the band members and the band directors, Drexel Poling and Fred Brobst.

Junior High Students Comment On Teays Valley

TUESDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Surprising conditions in the morning can work out much to your advantage if you make a point to maintain your cool. Let others see you can take the best of a situation and turn it to your advantage. The evening becomes excellent for social pleasures plus good, sensible judgment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you express your abilities in the business world, success and prestige will come your way. An adverse situation in the morning turns to your benefit after lunch. Relax tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An out-of-town situation can bring in fine benefits so put those ideas to work that will help you expand. A new contact can be helpful in this. Save time for a good friend tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Once you get responsibilities out of the way you gain the favor of a bigwig in business. Concentrate and let your hunches lead you rightly. Use good judgment, too.

MOON CHILDREN (June 2 to July 21) Associates come to you for help either financially or with other problems. You can assist them and have more rapport. Come to better agreements for all concerned. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have fascinating ideas on new, interesting work. Find the right articles for wardrobe that will make others sit up and take notice. Avoid one who likes to go on tangents.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is the day you have been waiting for to go off to the entertainments that appeal to you. Engage in creative ideas. The evening is especially fine for the social.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Add colorful touches to improve the appearance of your abode. If you show affection for those dwelling with you, arguments cease that have long been brewing. Answer letters tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Anything you want to do with an associate can now be handled very well, so get an early start. Evening is a good time to be congenial for a happy time. Stop brooding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can make plans and then do the work that will give the monetary advance you desire. Seek out a bigwig you know and listen to ideas given you. State your position well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you decide what it is you want to accomplish today, it will be easy to carry through with your ideas. The social affair you want to attend is right for you. Dress charmingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you contact good friends, you can pursue the aims that are right for all of you. Make plans that will bring the success you want in the near future. Do not limit yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) One who has the know-how will give you pointers on how to make an excellent impression with bigwigs who can give the backing you need. Attend the social. Show that you are self-assured.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who has a balanced nature, combining the materialistic with the ideal. This makes a fine combination for success. Teach early to obtain as much data on any subject as possible so that every phase of the project or idea is well understood. The field of science will likely appeal to your progeny. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

OU Union Chief Faces Court Hearing

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A local union president was to appear in Athens County Common Pleas Court today to answer contempt charges as non-teaching employees continued their strike against Ohio University, despite a temporary injunction ordering a halt to the walkout.

University officials indicated that more contempt citations would be sought if the strike continued today.

About 900 workers at the school, members of Local 1699 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, struck the school last Thursday claiming the University would not negotiate a series of grievances.

President Claude Sowle said in a Saturday evening press conference that the school 'had acted within the letter and spirit' of the agreement with the union.

Sowle said the union had not made use of the grievance or mediation procedures in its contract. He said the union could still seek a court order enjoining the school to answer allegations of contract violations. He added the university would abide by any such order.

Athens County Common Pleas Court Judge Lowell Howard issued a temporary injunction forbidding the workers "from engaging in any further strike activity." Union officials said they would continue their walkout until their grievances were negotiated.

Howard then issued a contempt citation against local president Oscar McGee. Sowle said the school could stay open as long as contract and supervisory personnel could bring in supplies and maintain essential services. But he did not say how long that might be.

OAPSE Sets Meet At Teays Valley

A meeting of Ohio Association of Public School Employees local 586 of Teays Valley School District will be held in room 46 at the High School 8 p.m. Tuesday.

A field representative of OAPSE will be present to explain the aims of the organization. All no-certified employees are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

TVHS Ag Students Attend Review

Agriculture students, accompanied by Ray Noecker, teacher, took an all-day field trip to the Farm Science Review Sept. 22. Thousands attended the Review to see, to touch, to ask, to learn about the newest in farming methods and machinery.

The Review was held Sept. 21, 22 and 23 on 700 acres of Ohio State University farmland near Don Scott Airfield just northwest of the Columbus city limits. About $5,000,000 worth of the most advanced equipment was on display.

Manager Dale Friday said of the Review, "You can't afford to miss this farm event because picking up just one idea or seeing just one piece of equipment you can use to advantage could far more than pay the expense of visiting the Review."

Four Teachers Hospitalized In September

By PAM HANNAH and JANIS HOFF

This school year started with several teachers being hospitalized. It is hoped that they are all better and that those who have not returned will soon be able to return.

Richard Snider, principal, was in the hospital for 17 days after suffering a heart attack in mid-August. He hopes to return to school about the middle of October. When asked if he missed school, Snider replied, "Yes, I really do!"

Phillip Everett is assuming the duties of principal until Mr. Snider returns.

Dale Allen has been in the hospital all school year. He should be released soon. However, he will not be able to come back to teach biology before the end of the first six weeks.

Mrs. John Brinker, Route 2 Ashville, has been teaching in his place.

Mrs. Betty Midkiff, art teacher, was hospitalized for tests at the beginning of the school year. Miss Janet Snyder of Ashville substituted for Mrs. Midkiff who returned to school Sept. 21.

Howard Weaver, guidance counselor, was hospitalized with a virus several days the second week of school. He returned to school Sept. 13.

TUESDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Surprising conditions in the morning can work out much to your advantage if you make a point to maintain your cool. Let others see you can take the best of a situation and turn it to your advantage. The evening becomes excellent for social pleasures plus good, sensible judgment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you express your abilities in the business world, success and prestige will come your way. An adverse situation in the morning turns to your benefit after lunch. Relax tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An out-of-town situation can bring in fine benefits so put those ideas to work that will help you expand. A new contact can be helpful in this. Save time for a good friend tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Once you get responsibilities out of the way you gain the favor of a bigwig in business. Concentrate and let your hunches lead you rightly. Use good judgment, too.

MOON CHILDREN (June 21 to July 21) Associates come to you for help either financially or with other problems. You can assist them and have more rapport. Come to better agreements for all concerned. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have fascinating ideas on new, interesting work. Find the right articles for wardrobe that will make others sit up and take notice. Avoid one who likes to go on tangents.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is the day you have been waiting for to go off to the entertainments that appeal to you. Engage in creative ideas. The evening is especially fine for the social.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Add colorful touches to improve the appearance of your abode. If you show affection for those dwelling with you, arguments cease that have long been brewing. Answer letters tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Anything you want to do with an associate can now be handled very well, so get an early start. Evening is a good time to be congenial for a happy time. Stop brooding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can make plans and then do the work that will give the monetary advance you desire. Seek out a bigwig you know and listen to ideas given you. State your position well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you decide what it is you want to accomplish today, it will be easy to carry through with your ideas. The social affair you want to attend is right for you. Dress charmingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you contact good friends, you can pursue the aims that are right for all of you. Make plans that will bring the success you want in the near future. Do not limit yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) One who has the know-how will give you pointers on how to make an excellent impression with bigwigs who can give the backing you need. Attend the social. Show that you are self-assured.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who has a balanced nature, combining the materialistic with the ideal. This makes a fine combination for success. Teach early to obtain as much data on any subject as possible so that every phase of the project or idea is well understood. The field of science

Pickaway Social Club Plans To Form Center

The first fall meeting of Pickaway Social Club was held Thursday, Sept. 23, in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Thirty-eight new and old members were present. The morning hours were spent playing cards and doing mending for Berger Hospital. After a sack lunch at noon a business meeting was conducted by Twyla Lorentz who has been acting chairman of the group for several years. She introduced Mrs. Tina Clark, deputy director of Community Action, who explained briefly some of the procedures which will need to be followed to submit a program in order to ask for a federal grant of money to create a fulltime senior citizens center in Circleville. A committee on aging must be formed in the county, to formulate the program and assure the cooperation of the community.

In line with these requirements, the Pickaway Social Club elected a full slate of officers and in the near future will adopt a constitution and by-laws to assure a well organized and efficiently run group. Officers elected are as follows: president, Mrs. Twyla

Lorentz; vice-president, Mrs. Evangeline Heffelfinger; secretary, Mrs. Garnet Ridgeway, and treasurer, Gordon DeNike. Committee chairmen will be appointed as deemed necessary. Mrs. Heffelfinger will continue as birthday chairman, which she has been doing for some time.

The following people observed birthdays in August: Louise Heine, Ellen DeLong, Lucille Webb, Mrs. C. McClure, Mrs. Corilla Pontius, Mrs. Fannie Brooks and Mrs. Elizabeth Button. September birthdays were celebrated by Faye Fausnaugh, Muriel Reichelderfer and Mrs. Minnie Heise. Everyone sang "happy birthday" to these people though all were not present. Mrs. Heise is a very special person to everyone, being the oldest member. She will celebrate her 101 birthday on Wednesday, Sept. 29. Everyone present signed a card to send to her and some of the members are planning to give her greetings in person on Wednesday.

Plans were completed for a bus trip on Oct. 6 to the Golden Lamb Restaurant in Lebanon and the museum there also. Mr. John Robinson will again be furnishing and driving the bus for the group. No more seats are available at this time, but anyone wishing to be put on the waiting list in case of cancellations, may call Mrs. Lorentz at 474-9064. Several other short trips may be taken yet this fall.

Some of the group are interested in visiting other Senior Centers. The new center at Hillsboro is having a Hobby Show on Oct. 2 and 3, and an Open House on Oct. 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. Anyone interested in going along, please call Mrs. Tina Clark at 474-7452 any week day between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The next regular meeting of the Club will be Thursday, Oct. 28 in Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

Greetings were prepared to send to Emma Curlett and Minnie Palm confined at home due to illness.

Delta Queen Starts Duties Carrying River-Town Mail

CINCINNATI (AP) — The nation's only remaining overnight passenger riverboat, the Delta Queen, becomes a floating post office and mail carrier today.

The Cincinnati-based paddlewheeler was scheduled to leave here with a load of letters and packages, reviving the old American tradition of steamboat mail service.

In 1847 when the first U.S. postage stamps were issued, steamboats were the principle carrier of the U.S. mail. The U.S. Postal Service recently issued an order permitting the Delta Queen to transport the mail.

Ceremonies for re-establishment of the mail service were set for today and U.S. postal officials from both national and regional headquarters planned to be on hand.

An official of Greene Line Steamers, Inc., which operates the riverboat, said, "It will be just like any other branch post office. The type of mail carried on it can't be restricted and neither can the postal rates."

While air mail is transported at speeds up to 600 miles an hour, mail on the Delta Queen will be carried at around 10 miles an hour.

The Delta Queen has a motorcycle on board that will be used to deliver the mail to the local post office at ports where stops are scheduled.

On the inaugural mail voyage, Delta Queen Capt. Ernest Wagner will also present a commemorative plaque to the

White Sees No Indication Mao Is Ill

HONG KONG (AP) — American heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White said on arrival from Peking today that he saw nothing during his stay in China to support rumors that Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung is sick.

White, an 85-year-old Boston cardiologist who treated the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said he heard the speculation that Mao is seriously ill only when he listened to a Western radio broadcast.

He said he asked Chinese doctors about the radio report and they indicated no knowledge of serious illness. White said he had no personal contact with Mao or other government leaders during his 12-day stay.

Rumors began bubbling after Peking canceled its traditional Oct. 1 National Day parade for the first time since the Communists seized power 22 years ago. The talk included speculation that Mao had died or fallen gravely ill or that China's top leaders were engaged in a power struggle.

White said doctors in Peking told him the parade was called off simply because it had become too elaborate.

"They explained that they want more people to take part in the celebrations on Oct. 1, and they are going to divide the population up among several big parks," he added.

Balloonist Remembers WWI

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — High above the muddy, chewed-up, trench-laced and barbed wire-strewn World War I battlefields in France, Lt. John MacGilchrist surveyed the fighting as a balloon observer with the British Royal Flying Corps.

He viewed infantry assaults, artillery shelling and gas attacks from a perch up to 6,000 feet above ground. Scanning the German lines with field glasses, he relayed details of enemy positions and activities down a telephone line extended along the cable linking him to the ground.

Other times, he had a grandstand view of aerial dogfights between German and Allied aircraft which swirled around his balloon. MacGilchrist, 78, recalls those days from his San Diego apartment, surrounded by paintings representative of his years as an architectural and engineering illustrator. He still paints seascapes along the Pacific coast.

But the etchings he made while an aerial observer remain his favorites. Often he did the first rough sketches while witnessing dogfights from his balloon.

"The Germans were too busy to worry about me then," MacGilchrist said. "But there were other occasions when they came after the bags."

Once German planes attacked a line of observation balloons. "It was a turkey shoot," MacGilchrist remembers. "The sky from north to south was lined with smoke trails, balloons falling in flames, and their observers leaping out in their parachutes." MacGilchrist says his balloon was not attacked on that occasion because, at 6,000 feet, it was 2,000 feet above the planes and "I guess they were low on gas because they didn't come up after me."

Other times, shrapnel from Allied guns caused his balloon to sag.

Four times he had to jump. His closest call is one he remembers well.

"The Germans usually attacked from above," he says. "This time, an Albatross surprised me by coming from underneath. Bullets ripped through the basket. One hit my gauntlet. The bag exploded. Bike Ride Turns Tragic CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A seven-year-old boy was shot Sunday while riding his new bicycle near his home on the East Side. A doctor said the youngster was blinded in one eye and may lose the sight in the other.

Tyrone Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hill, was one of five boys riding single file on the sidewalk when he was shot. A neighbor boy who was in the group, 11-year-old Isaac Glover, saw Tyrone fall from his bicycle with his head covered with blood and carried him home.

Mrs. Hill took her son to Mount Sinai Hospital where a doctor examined the boy and discovered he had been shot.

The doctor said the bullet pierced the youngster's brain and lodged near his right eye. He said the sight in the right eye was gone and there was a possibility that the boy would lose the sight in his left eye.

Tyrone was listed in guarded condition Sunday night. Police said they had no suspects in the shooting.

Pickaway Social Club Plans To Form Center

The first fall meeting of the Pickaway Social Club was held Thursday, Sept. 23, in the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Thirty-eight new and old members were present. The morning hours were spent playing cards and doing mending for Berger Hospital. After a sack lunch at noon a business meeting was conducted by Twyla Lorentz who has been acting chairman of the group for several years. She introduced Mrs. Tina Clark, deputy director of Community Action, who explained briefly some of the procedures which will need to be followed to submit a program in order to ask for a federal grant of money to create a fulltime senior citizens center in Circleville. A committee on aging must be formed in the county, to formulate the program and assure the cooperation of the community.

In line with these requirements, the Pickaway Social Club elected a full slate of officers and in the near future will adopt a constitution and by-laws to assure a well organized and efficiently run group. Officers elected are as follows: president, Mrs. Twyla

Lorentz; vice-president, Mrs. Evangeline Heffelfinger; secretary, Mrs. Garnet Ridgeway; and treasurer, Gordon DeNike. Committee chairmen will be appointed as deemed necessary. Mrs. Heffelfinger will continue as birthday chairman, which she has been doing for some time.

The following people observed birthdays in August: Louise Heine, Ellen DeLong, Lucille Webb, Mrs. C. McClure, Mrs. Corilla Pontius, Mrs. Fannie Brooks and Mrs. Elizabeth Button. September birthdays were celebrated by Faye Fausnaugh, Muriel Reichelderfer and Mrs. Minnie Heise. Everyone sang "happy birthday" to these people though all were not present. Mrs. Heise is a very special person to everyone, being the oldest member. She will celebrate her 101 birthday on Wednesday, Sept. 29. Everyone present signed a card to send to her and some of the members are planning to give their greetings in person on Wednesday.

Plans were completed for a bus trip on Oct. 6 to the Golden Lamb Restaurant in Lebanon and the museum there also. Mr. John Robinson will again be furnishing and driving the bus for the group. No more seats are available at this time, but anyone wishing to be put on the waiting list in case of cancellations, may call Mrs. Lorentz at 474-9064. Several other short trips may be taken yet this fall.

Some of the group are interested in visiting other Senior Centers. The new center at Hillsboro is having a Hobby Show on Oct. 2 and 3, and an Open House on Oct. 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. Anyone interested in going along, please call Mrs. Tina Clark at 474-7452 any week day between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Thursday, Oct. 28 in Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club official action for 1971-72 was on Sept. 23rd with a dinner meeting held at Wardell's Party Home. A welcome was given by Harriet Taylor, president.

Freda Collins presented Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad who by narrated illustration conducted fellow members on a trip through scenic Ohio. Dr. Conrad used "A Sunday Afternoon" as the title of her presentation which recognized the following areas as rewarding places to spend a Sunday afternoon: Burr Oak, Leo Petroglyph, Tarlton Creek Mound, Logan Elm and Gold Cliff Parks, Mound City, Deer Creek Dam, Rocky Fork, Tar Hollow, Pike Lake, Lake Alma, Hammerstown Lake, Lake Wellston, Ross Lake, Hargus Lake, Caldwell Lake, and Stewart Lake.

Assisted by Mary Ann Willoughby, Mrs. Kaylor conducted the inspiring ceremony of initiation for Charlotte Hill who was recently elected to membership.

Mrs. Collins, program chairman, announced the committee chairmen and their responsibility during the club year: Emma Curlett, finance; Mary Ann Willoughby, membership; Etha Mae Wolford, world affairs; Clarissa Talbot, legislation; Jean West, personal development; Eleanor Craig, civic participation; Leora Sayre, public relations; Jo Ann Brink, music; Gloria Gabriel, education and scholarship; Mary Howard, historian; Kathleen Hoffman, foundation and federation.

Louise Hill, corresponding secretary, reviewed communications concerning the Annual Fall Meeting of District 10 to be held Oct. 3rd at Washington Court House and the Council of Dayton Clubs to be held Oct. 23rd.

Greetings were prepared to send to Emma Curlett and Minnie Palm confined at home due to illness.

Delta Queen Starts Duties Carrying River-Town Mail

CINCINNATI (AP) — The nation's only remaining overnight passenger riverboat, the Delta Queen, becomes a floating post office and mail carrier today.

The Cincinnati-based paddlewheeler was scheduled to leave here with a load of letters and packages, reviving the old American tradition of steamboat mail service.

In 1847 when the first U.S. postage stamps were issued, steamboats were the principle carrier of the U.S. mail. The U.S. Postal Service recently issued an order permitting the Delta Queen to transport the mail.

Ceremonies for re-establishment of the mail service were set for today and U.S. postal officials from both national and regional headquarters planned to be on hand.

An official of Greene Line Steamers, Inc., which operates the riverboat, said, "It will be just like any other branch post office. The type of mail carried on it can't be restricted and neither can the postal rates."

While air mail is transported at speeds up to 600 miles an hour, mail on the Delta Queen will be carried at around 10 miles an hour.

The Delta Queen has a motorcycle on board that will be used to deliver the mail to the local post office at ports where stops are scheduled.

On the inaugural mail voyage, Delta Queen Capt. Ernest Wagner will also present a commemorative plaque to the

Balloonist Remembers WWI

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — High above the muddy, chewed-up, trench-laced and barbed wire-strewn World War I battlefields in France, Lt. John MacGilchrist surveyed the fighting as a balloon observer with the British Royal Flying Corps.

He viewed infantry assaults, artillery shelling and gas attacks from a perch up to 6,000 feet above ground. Scanning the German lines with field glasses, he relayed details of enemy positions and activities down a telephone line extended along the cable linking him to the ground.

Other times, he had a grandstand view of aerial dogfights between German and Allied aircraft which swirled around his balloon. MacGilchrist, 78, recalls those days from his San Diego apartment, surrounded by paintings representative of his years as an architectural and engineering illustrator. He still paints seascapes along the Pacific coast.

But the etchings he made while an aerial observer remain his favorites. Often he did the first rough sketches while witnessing dogfights from his balloon.

"The Germans were too busy to worry about me then," MacGilchrist said. "But there were other occasions when they came after the bags."

Once German planes attacked a line of observation balloons. "It was a turkey shoot," MacGilchrist remembers. "The sky from north to south was lined with smoke trails, balloons falling in flames, and their observers leaping out in their parachutes." MacGilchrist says his balloon was not attacked on that occasion because, at 6,000 feet, it was 2,000 feet above the planes and "I guess they were low on gas because they didn't come up after me."

Other times, shrapnel from Allied guns caused his balloon to sag.

Four times he had to jump. His closest call is one he remembers well.

"The Germans usually attacked from above," he says. "This time, an Albatross surprised me by coming from underneath. Bullets ripped through the basket. One hit my gauntlet. The bag exploded. I dropped out of the basket like a hot brick. My winchman hauled the burning basket into the wind to protect me from having it fall on my parachute, which was drifting in the opposite direction. Even so, burning debris floated by."

Divers Find World War 2 Planes

By WILLIAM HELTON
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — Scuba divers here are opening the ocean graves of World War II airplanes resting under the waters of the Pacific Ocean.

Some of the planes may have been shot down during the attack on Pearl Harbor. Others fell into the sea in accidents afterwards.

For many divers, the treasure is the thrill of taking a coral-encrusted propeller or instrument panel. At least one plane has been brought to the surface.

Lt. Col. Robert A. Zehring, a member of the Hickham Sea Lancers diving club, said divers began exploring for airplanes because "there aren't many sunken ships in accessible water, just a couple of barges."

2nd Lima Escapee Captured

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The second of three persons who escaped from Lima State Hospital Sept. 21 was recaptured Sunday by Cleveland police after he tried to rob the West Drug store on the city's Rose Side.

Being held under guard in the prison ward of Metropolitan General Hospital was Charles Stapleton, 33. He was reported in fair condition with a gunshot wound of the left arm.

Police said Stapleton and another man — also believed to be one of the escapees — stopped the drug store owner, Arthur Cohen, 39, of Beachwood shortly after he closed the store at West 102nd Street and Madison Avenue early Sunday morning.

A watch and $20 was taken from an employee who had worked Saturday night with Cohen and while Stapleton's accomplice watched him, Stapleton took Cohen back to the store and ordered him to open the safe that contained $2,000.

Alerted by a silent alarm, police arrived and shot Stapleton when he wheeled around and tried twice to shoot but was prevented when his gun jammed.

The bullet that struck Stapleton went through his arm and struck Cohen in the left forearm. He was not seriously wounded.

The third Lima escapee was recaptured near that city Friday.

to Mary Ann Miller Temple from the Sisters.

Marilyn Sabine will fill the unexpired term of secretary as Phyllis Rife had presented her resignation at the last meeting.

Lovely refreshments of salads and cookies were served to those present by Shirley Little and Joan Kennedy.

Pearl Harbor itself, where many of America's naval ships were sunk by Japanese airplanes in the Dec. 7, 1941, attack, is off limits to scuba divers.

Leora Sayre Honored By Lecturers

Leora Sayre, 410 E. Main St., was honored Friday at the Great Lakes Lecturers Conference held in Columbus.

Grange lecturers from Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio spent three days working on Grange programs and ideas selected by lecturers from the five states.

Miss Sayre was given an award for being an outstanding lecturer in the state. She is a member of Salter Creek Valley Grange and is Pomona Lecturer in Pickaway County.

Attending the meeting from Pickaway County were: John Dowler, secretary of the Ohio State Grange; Mrs. Dowler, lecturer of Scioto Valley Grange; Mrs. S. E. Beers, lecturer of Scioto Grange; Mrs. Paul Dawson, lecturer of Star Grange; Barbara McKenzie, secretary of Ohio Master; and Paul Dunkle, lecturer of Salt Creek Valley Grange.

In addition to state lecturers other grange leaders present were: National Grange Master John Scott; National Grange Lecturer, Mrs. William Brake; National Grange Princess Patty Sherman; Jerome Davis, high priest; and the masters of Indiana and Michigan State Granges.

Throughout the days the grange educational leaders spent their time in workshops with the state lecturers and in the evening enjoyed recreation provided by each state and winning lecturer programs from Ohio.

Favors and prizes were donated by Granges from all over Ohio. Pickaway County gifts were provided by Pomona Grange.

Blaze Destroys Cincy Apartment

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 30 people were looking for new homes today after a two-alarm fire raced through their three-story apartment building residence here Sunday.

None of the residents was hurt, but seven firemen were injured. Firefighter Robert Richter was the only one hospitalized. Most of the others suffered heat exhaustion or were overcome by smoke.

Damage to the frame building was set at $21,000 and the remains were condemned.

The blaze broke out in a kitchen on the first floor. The cause remained under investigation.

But reports of two-man submarines and airplanes resting on the ocean floor have spread a diving fever throughout the Hawaiian Islands.

Scuba clubs have been formed here by members of the armed forces and by local residents.

Long-time island residents provide many of the clues in

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A warming trend is forecast to continue through tonight with lows falling in the 50s and 60s.

A warm front moving across the state today triggered scattered showers, which are forecast to continue over the north tonight. Heavy fog and showers were reported over the state this morning, with a few scattered thundershowers in the Southeast.

Early morning readings ranged from the upper 50s to 60s. Highs today were forecast to reach the upper 70s and 80s.

FORECASTS

NORTHWEST INLAND, LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND — Partly cloudy and mild with a chance of showers tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 50s and low 60s. Highs Tuesday in the upper 70s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Partly cloudy and warm tonight and Tuesday. Highs in the upper 70s and low 80s. Lows tonight in the 60s.

finding sunken war machines and military accounts also have proved to be valuable.

The Pearl Divers scuba club checked out one report and dropped the boat anchor only 10 feet from an upside-down fighter plane.

"It was utterly astonishing," said Cmdr. Malcolm MacDonald, a member of the Pearl Divers.

MacDonald said the club salvaged the plane's bent propeller and a 500-pound bomb. The Navy Pacific Service Force, although not a diving club, found and salvaged an Army Air Corps P47 Thunderbolt in 20 feet of water off the island of Oahu. It will be displayed in the Hawaii Air National Guard Museum.

Divers said they were unable to find bullet holes in the plane or structural damage and speculate it was probably ditched because of engineer failure.

Thus far no bodies have been found in the planes.

No sunken Japanese planes have been found, either. But it is rumored that they are around, and they remain a prized objective of the divers.

Little Completes Gasco Training

James Little, Route 1, a customer serviceman for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., in the Circleville area, has completed a week-long refresher course at the Columbia Gas System Service Corp. training school, Columbus.

The course is one in a series of classes designed specially to keep gas company servicemen abreast of advances in modern natural gas appliances and equipment.

Little has been with the gas company seven years.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-2086

Forty-two persons from the Ashville community attended a baseball game between Cincinnati and San Francisco at Cincinnati's new River Front Stadium Sept. 24.

Chuck Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Sanders of Powell Street, was the honored guest Sept. 9 at a party celebrating his fifth birthday.

Several games were played during the afternoon and refreshments were served to Dean and Rob East, John and George Kirk, Lori and Stevie Haddox, Wayne and Rodney Brvant and Chuck, Earl and Kim Sanders.

Sherman's Captain Kidd ("Cappy"), a Maltese puppy owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman won two prizes over the weekend. On Saturday at New Castle, Pa., he was awarded the Reserve Prize and on Sunday at Wheeling, W. Va., he won the Best of Winners Award.

"Cappy" was shown both days by Dottie White of Youngstown.

Sunday the First English Lutheran Church observed Parish Education Sunday during the worship service. Bibles were presented to the students of the Seventh Grade who are beginning the Catechism instruction. Installation of the Sunday School teachers and the new Sunday School superintendent also took place at this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Owens (Cookie Willoughby) of South Bloomfield, announce the birth of a daughter, Carla June, on Sept. 12. The new born weighed six pounds, 14 ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willoughby. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Owens. Great-grandmother is Mrs. Ethel Kelley and the great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Lavina Martin.

The Helping Hand Society of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church will meet Sept. 30 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Betty Tosca.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Morrison and Mrs. Ben Morrison were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morrison of Bexley.

The Frankway Farm Bureau Council met Sept. 17 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swingle, Route 1, Ashville. Chairman Chester Noecker opened the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting, which was held in July at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, were read and approved. There was no August meeting.

The discussion for the evening was the high cost of Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and hospitalization.

There were 13 members present including Mr. and Mrs. Chester Noecker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cromley, Lewis Hay, Harold Fisher, Ray Plum and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Swingle.

The October meeting will be a covered dish supper at the Hedges Chapel Church, Oct. 8 at 6:30 p.m.

The Luther League of the First English Lutheran Church attended the travelogue at Lithopolis Sunday. It was on Morocco and the Moors.

Results of the Ashville Belles Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for Sept. 21 were: High single game, Sharon Welsh, 220; High three game series, Wanda Norman, 545; High team game, Frank's Garage, 652; High team series, Morrison's Market, 1910.

HONOLULU (AP) — Scuba divers here are opening the ocean graves of World War II airplanes resting under the waters of the Pacific Ocean.

Some of the planes may have been shot down during the attack on Pearl Harbor. Others fell into the sea in accidents afterwards.

For many divers, the treasure is the thrill of taking a coral-encrusted propeller or instrument panel. At least one plane has been brought to the surface.

Lt. Col. Robert A. Zehring, a member of the Hickham Sea Lancers diving club, said divers began exploring for airplanes because "there aren't many sunken ships in accessible water, just a couple of barges."

2nd Lima Escapee Captured

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The second of three persons who escaped from Lima State Hospital Sept. 21 was recaptured Sunday by Cleveland police after he tried to rob the Rose Drug store on the city's West Side.

Being held under guard in the prison ward of Metropolitan General Hospital was Charles Stapleton, 33. He was reported in fair condition with a gunshot wound of the left arm.

Police said Stapleton and another man — also believed to be one of the escapees — stopped the drug store owner, Arthur Cohen, 39, of Beachwood shortly after he closed the store at West 102nd Street and Madison Avenue early Sunday morning.

A watch and $20 was taken from an employee who had worked Saturday night with Cohen and while Stapleton's accomplice watched him, Stapleton took Cohen back to the store and ordered him to open the safe that contained $2,000.

Alerted by a silent alarm, police arrived and shot Stapleton when he wheeled around and tried twice to shoot but was prevented when his gun jammed.

The bullet that struck Stapleton went through his arm and struck Cohen in the left forearm. He was not seriously wounded.

The third Lima escapee was recaptured near that city Friday.

Leora Sayre Honored By Lecturers

Leora Sayre, 410 E. Main St., was honored Friday at the Great Lakes Lecturers Conference held in Columbus.

Grange lecturers from Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio spent three days working on Grange programs and ideas selected by lecturers from the five states.

Miss Sayre was given an award for being an outstanding lecturer in the state. She is a member of Saltcreek Valley Grange and is Pomona Lecturer in Pickaway County.

Attending the meeting from Pickaway County were: John Dowler, secretary of the Ohio State Grange; Mrs. Dowler, lecturer of Scioto Valley Grange; Mrs. S. E. Beers, lecturer of Scioto Grange; Mrs. Paul Dawson, lecturer of Star Grange; Barbara McKenzie, secretary of Ohio Master; and Paul Dunkle, lecturer of Saltcreek Valley Grange.

In addition to state lecturers other grange leaders present were: National Grange Master John Scott; National Grange Lecturer, Mrs. William Grange; National Grange Princess Patty Sherman; Jerome Davis, high priest; and the masters of Indiana and Michigan State Granges.

Throughout the days the grange educational leaders spent their time in workshops with the state lecturers and in the evening enjoyed recreation provided by each state and winning lecturer programs from Ohio.

Favors and prizes were donated by Granges from all over Ohio. Pickaway County gifts were provided by Pomona Grange.

Blaze Destroys Cincy Apartment

CINCINNATI (AP)—About 30 people were looking for new homes today after a two-alarm fire raced through their three-story apartment building residence here Sunday.

None of the residents was hurt, but seven firemen were injured. Firefighter Robert Richter was the only one hospitalized. Most of the others suffered heat exhaustion or were overcome by smoke.

Damage to the frame building was set at $21,000 and the remains were condemned.

The blaze broke out in a kitchen on the first floor. The cause remained under investigation.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A warming trend is forecast to continue through tonight with lows falling in the 50s and 60s.

A warm front moving across the state today triggered scattered showers, which are forecast to continue over the north tonight. Heavy fog and showers were reported over the state this morning, with a few scattered thundershowers in the Southeast.

Early morning readings ranged from the upper 50s to 60s. Highs today were forecast to reach the upper 70s and 80s.

FORECASTS

NORTHWEST INLAND, LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND — Partly cloudy and mild with a chance of showers tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 50s and low 60s. Highs Tuesday in the upper 70s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Partly cloudy and warm tonight and Tuesday. Highs in the upper 70s and low 80s. Lows tonight in the 60s.

finding sunken war machines and military accounts also have proved to be valuable.

The Pearl Divers scuba club checked out one report and dropped the boat anchor only 10 feet from an upside-down fighter plane.

"It was utterly astonishing," said Cmdr. Malcolm MacDonald, a member of the Pearl Divers.

MacDonald said the club salvaged the plane's bent propeller and a 500-pound bomb. The Navy Pacific Service Force, although not a diving club, found and salvaged an Army Air Corps P47 Thunderbolt in 20 feet of water off the island of Oahu. It will be displayed in the Hawaii Air National Guard Museum.

Divers said they were unable to find bullet holes in the plane or structural damage and speculate it was probably ditched because of engine failure.

Thus far no bodies have been found in the planes.

No sunken Japanese planes have been found, either. But it is rumored that they are around, and they remain a prized objective of the divers.

Some of the found planes are left in the ocean intact.

Dodgers, Giants Maintain Places In NL Title Race

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, wounded and wobbling, are hanging in there in the wild and whacky National League West.

They may win it yet—that is, if they can finish the season with the same cast.

"This team reminds me of the Spirit of '76 with all our injuries," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox after the pain-plagued Giants smacked the Cincinnati Reds 12-5 Sunday and maintained a shaky one-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat Atlanta 5-2.

Fox has a point, you must admit. With Willie McCovey's tormented knees and ripped hand and beanball victim Dick Dietz' bandaged head, the baseball season has resembled a war for the Giants. Those are some injuries, there have been others.

"Sunday was the first time that we've had our regular lineup together for a long time, maybe three or four weeks," said Fox. "In fact, I don't think we've had our regular lineup together for 50 per cent of the season."

McCovey, held together most of the season with pain-killing shots and leg harnesses because of arthritic knees and a torn cartilage, complicated matters recently when he suffered a gash in one hand during a game. Dietz took 10 stitches in his head after being hit by a pitch last Tuesday and wasn't able to start until Saturday because he couldn't fit a batting helmet over the swelling.

"It was bothering me a little Sunday," said Dietz, but apparently not too much because he drilled a grand slam home run and knocked in five runs.

While the Giants were winning a key game, the hot Dodgers kept things interesting by whipping the Braves for the third straight day as Richie Allen and Duke Sims hit home runs.

The Dodgers and Giants each have three games left in the regular season, which winds up Thursday.

In Sunday's other National League games, the New York Mets trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 7-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 5-1.

Steelers Stop Cincy Bengals For 21-10 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jitters muted, Terry Bradshaw has programmed himself to think positively.

"I think Dick Butkus Chicago Bear linebacker was in the back of my mind last week," Bradshaw said.

"This week I had a positive attitude."

Sunday, Bradshaw completed 18 of 30 passes for 249 yards and two touchdowns as the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Cincinnati Bengals 21-10.

Bradshaw admitted he felt like a new person compared to last week's performance when he threw four interceptions as the Steelers lost 17-15.

"I got my mind mentally prepared for the Bengals," said the Steeler quarterback. "I was thinking out there."

But, the 6-foot-3 Bradshaw had excellent help.

Receiver Dave Smith caught eight passes for 162 yards and a touchdown and Jon Staggers made a sizzling 67-yard punt return for the Steelers second score. Preston Pearson scored the final touchdown on a 13-yard pass from Bradshaw.

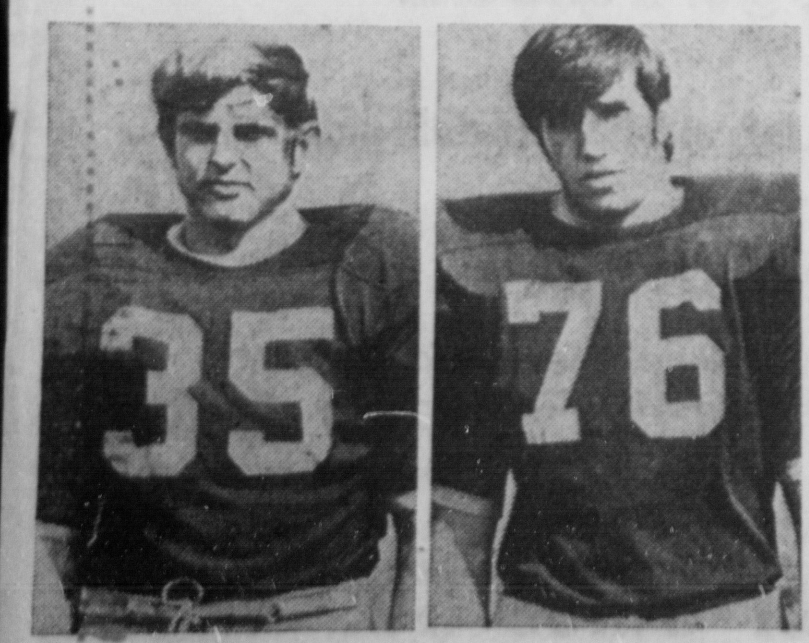

Throughout the contest, the Steelers defense ruffed up quarterback Virgil Carter and the front wall held the Bengals to just 28 yards in total rushing.

"Just what I was afraid of," said Bengals Coach Paul Brown. "We figured we were going to walk into a team that was ready and they were. They outplayed us."

Bradshaw and Smith both had their best days in pro football and the combination helped stop the Bengals' eight-game winning streak and the Steelers' four game losing streak.

Orioles Turn Back Tribe; Jim Palmer Wins His 20th

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Winning this one was very important to me," said Baltimore's Jim Palmer after beating Cleveland 5-0 and joining teammates Mike Cuellar, Pat Dobson and Dave McNally as 20-game winners this season.

"Heck, when the other guys win 20, I look bad if I don't," added Palmer. "Can't you just see what would happen next spring training? The photographers all would be taking pictures of the other three guys together with me off to the side. I couldn't let that happen, could I?"

He didn't.

Palmer pitched brilliantly Sunday, thwarting the Indians on three hits and nine strikeouts in raising his record to 20-9 and making the Orioles only the second team in major league history to have four 20-game winners in the same season.

The other was the 1920 Chicago White Sox, who had Urban Faber, Claude Williams, Dick Kerr and Ed Cicotte reach the coveted 20-victory circle.

Elsewhere in the AL Sunday, New York edged Detroit 3-2; Oakland blanked Milwaukee 7-0; Chicago defeated California 6-5 in 10 innings; Boston trounced Washington 8-1; and Minnesota and Kansas City split a doubleheader, the Twins winning the opener 6-2 and the Royals taking the nightcap 5-3.

Palmer, in becoming a 20-game winner for the second consecutive year and the eighth 20-game winner in the AL this season, checked the Indians on singles by Chris Chambliss in

Beulah Park Fall Quarter Horse Meet In Final Week

The Beulah Park Fall Quarter Horse Meeting at Grove City, Ohio's largest sprinter event, enters its final week today with several lucrative championships still to be decided.

Friday, October 1, the Beulah Park Championship, a $2500 added event will find ten 3-year-olds racing 440 yards for an anticipated purse of $9,000.

In last Friday's three trial heats, Jet Injun, a four-year-old ridden by jockey Don Tyre set a new track record at the Grove City oval — doing the 440 in :22 08-100 breaking the existing record held by Top Rockette 2 who ticked in at :22-26 in 1970. Winners of the two remaining heats were Moneyed Chick in at :22 65-100 with Monty Wilkins, an 18-year-old Valdosta, Georgia girl aboard, and Top Bidder, clocked at :22 65-100 Don Keiser doing the booting.

Second of the titles to be decided October 1, is the Beulah Park Allowance Stake a 400-yarder for 2-year-olds who have started in the finals or consolation of a futurity, but have not won such an event.

ON Saturday, October 2 and final day of the 13-day meeting the added Buckeye Allowance Stake will pit 2-year-old non-winners of 1971 stake races against each other in a 400 yard sprint.

In championship races to date, Rudds Spooky Boy, a 3-year-old won the Beulah Park 870, the distance run for sprinters to capture a $3,610 purse and Go With The Wind,

"You can't ever rule out the psychological, emotional side of football," says Coach Shug Jordan of Auburn, who survived Tennessee's year-long campaign for revenge Saturday.

Claude Gibson of Tulsa probably would be the first to echo that statement after proving that a little psychology goes a long way.

After fifth-ranked Auburn nipped ninth-rated Tennessee 10-9 in an early Southeastern Conference showdown, Jordan reminded one and all that the Vols "spent the past year making preparations for the Auburn game because they rightfully concluded that our victory last year knocked them out of the national championship."

Gibson's psychology didn't take effect until the final period, when three touchdown passes by Todd Starks propelled unheralded Tulsa from a 20-point deficit to a 21-20 upset of seventh-ranked Arkansas, termed by Gibson "the greatest victory in Tulsa history."

OU Bobcats Stop Kent State, 37-21

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio University Football Coach Bill Hess said everything went "just according to our game plan" as the Bobcats throttled Kent State 37-21 Saturday for their second Mid-American Conference victory.

"Our offensive coaches did a real fine job of setting up our blocking adjustments . . . and the team executed them well," Hess said.

OU's on top of the MAC standings with a 2-0 record, with other teams yet to play a league game.

The Bobcats face what probably will be their toughest test of the season next Saturday when they go against defending MAC champ Toledo, holder of the nation's longest winning streak at 26.

In other big games Saturday, Colorado surprised Ohio State 20-14, Toledo blanked Texas-Arlington 23-0, Miami shut out Dayton 14-0, Bowling Green whipped East Carolina 47-21, Houston downed Cincinnati 12-3 and Marshall trimmed Xavier 15-13.

Ohio University, led by the outstanding running of tailback Jim Kozlowski, built up a 27-0 lead by halftime. The Golden Flashes got their game going after intermission, scoring three times but couldn't hold OU's well-drilled offensive line as the Bobcats racked up 10 more points.

Colorado quarterback Ken Johnson ran for 84 yards, including two touchdowns and successfully executed the triple option against the Buckeyes.

Don Lamka, the OSU helmsman, scored once and passed to Rick Middleton for another touchdown, despite a separated left shoulder incurred on the third play of the game.

Butch Hartman Wins Race, Driving Title

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

Butch Hartman won only two auto races this year, the first one he entered and the last one, but today he is the stock car champion of the United States Auto Club.

Hartman, 31, of North Zanesville, Ohio, drove a Dodge to victory in the Pennsylvania 500 at Mount Pocono, Pa. Saturday to pick up about $15,000 in prize money—the largest single payoff in his spotty career—and earned enough points to beat out perennial champion Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz. for the driving title.

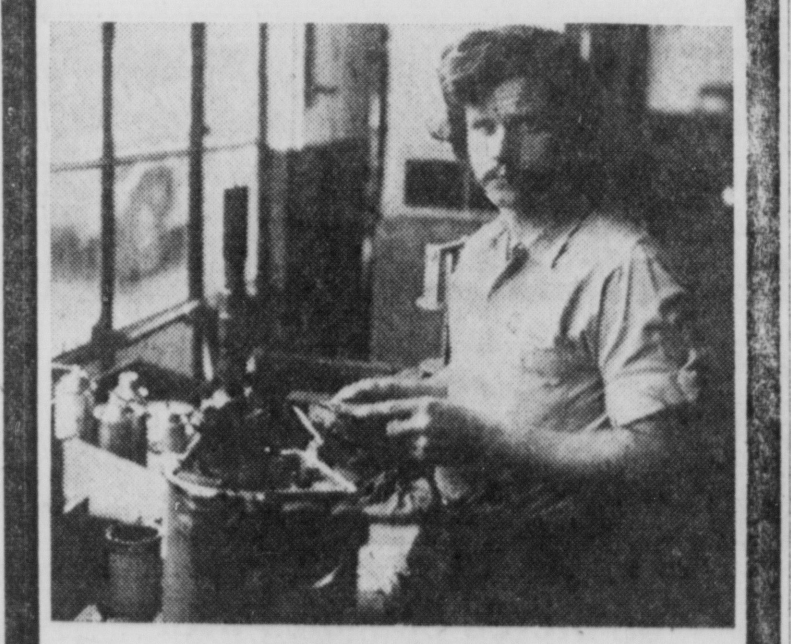

Meantime, Bobby Isaac returned to action after setting 28 land speed records in Utah, to win the 250-mile race for NASCAR Grand Title Sedans at Martinsville, Va.

The 1973 U.S. Open golf championship will be played at the Oakmont, Pa., Country Club for the fifth time.

Dodgers, Giants Maintain Places In NL Title Race

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, wounded and wobbly, are hanging in there in the wild and whacky National League West.

They may win it yet—that is, if they can finish the season with the same cast.

"This team reminds me of the Spirit of '76 with all our injuries," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox after the pain-plagued Giants smacked the Cincinnati Reds 12-5 Sunday and maintained a shaky one-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat Atlanta 5-2.

Fox has a point, you must admit. With Willie McCovey's tortured knees and ripped hand and beanball victim Dick Dietz' bandaged head, the baseball season has resembled a war for the Giants. Those are some injuries, there have been others.

"Sunday was the first time that we've had our regular lineup together for a long time, maybe three or four weeks," said Fox. "In fact, I don't think we've had our regular lineup together for 50 per cent of the season."

McCovey, held together most of the season with pain-killing shots and leg harnesses because of arthritic knees and a torn cartilage, complicated matters recently when he suffered a gash in one hand during a game. Dietz took 10 stitches in his head after being hit by a pitch last Tuesday and wasn't able to start until Saturday because he couldn't fit a batting helmet over the swelling.

"It was bothering me a little Sunday," said Dietz, but apparently not too much because he drilled a grand slam home run and knocked in five runs.

While the Giants were winning a key game, the hot Dodgers kept things interesting by whipping the Braves for the third straight day as Richie Allen and Duke Sims hit home runs.

The Dodgers and Giants each have three games left in the regular season, which winds up Thursday.

In Sunday's other National League games, the New York Mets trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 7-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 5-1.

Steelers Stop Cincy Bengals For 21-10 Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jitters muted, Terry Bradshaw has programmed himself to think positively.

"I think Dick Butkus Chicago Bear linebacker was in the back of my mind last week," Bradshaw said.

"This week I had a positive attitude."

Sunday, Bradshaw completed 18 of 30 passes for 249 yards and two touchdowns as the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Cincinnati Bengals 21-10.

Bradshaw admitted he felt like a new person compared to last week's performance when he threw four interceptions as the Steelers lost 17-15.

"I got my mind mentally prepared for the Bengals," said the Steeler quarterback. "I was thinking out there."

But the 6-foot-3 Bradshaw had excellent help.

Receiver Dave Smith caught eight passes for 162 yards and a touchdown and Jon Stagers made a sizzling 67-yard punt return for the Steelers second score. Preston Pearson scored the final touchdown on a 13-yard pass from Bradshaw.

Throughout the contest, the Steelers defense ruffed up quarterback Virgil Carter and the front wall held the Bengals to just 28 yards in total rushing.

"Just what I was afraid of," said Bengals Coach Paul Brown. "We figured we were going to walk into a team that was ready and they were. They outplayed us."

Bradshaw and Smith both had their best days in pro football and the combination helped stop the Bengals eight-game winning streak and the Steelers' four game losing streak.

Orioles Turn Back Tribe; Jim Palmer Wins His 20th

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Winning this one was very important to me," said Baltimore's Jim Palmer after beating Cleveland 5-0 and joining teammates Mike Cuellar, Pat Dobson and Dave McNally as 20-game winners this season.

"Heck, when the other guys win 20, I look bad if I don't," added Palmer. "Can't you just see what would happen next spring training? The photographers all would be taking pictures of the other three guys together with me off to the side. I couldn't let that happen, could I?"

He didn't.

Palmer pitched brilliantly Sunday, thwarting the Indians on three hits and nine strikeouts in raising his record to 20-9 and making the Orioles only the second team in major league history to have four 20-game winners in the same season.

The other was the 1920 Chicago White Sox, who had Urban Faber, Claude Williams, Dick Kerr and Ed Cicotte reach the coveted 20-victory circle.

Elsewhere in the AL Sunday, New York edged Detroit 3-2; Oakland blanked Milwaukee 7-0; Chicago defeated California 6-5 in 10 innings; Boston trounced Washington 8-1; and Minnesota and Kansas City split a doubleheader, the Twins winning the opener 6-2 and the Royals taking the nightcap 5-3.

Palmer, in becoming a 20-game winner for the second consecutive year and the eighth 20-game winner in the AL this season, checked the Indians on singles by Chris Chambliss in

Marshall Defeats Musketeers, 15-13

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Marshall University's Young Thundering Herd football team has proven the power of positive thinking.

Before Saturday's stunning 15-13 upset victory over Xavier's Musketeers, even the most optimistic sports fan would admit Marshall faced a long season—a euphemism for a ten-game winless journey.

The school's determination to rebuild its football program following a 75-death plane crash last Nov. 14 was, in itself, a challenge.

Beulah Park Fall Quarter Horse Meet In Final Week

The Beulah Park Fall Quarter Horse Meeting at Grove City, Ohio's largest sprinter event, enters its final week today with several lucrative championships still to be decided.

Friday, October 1, the Beulah Park Championship, a $2500 added event will find ten 3-year-olds racing 440 yards for an anticipated purse of $9,000.

In last Friday's three trial heats, Jet Injun, a four-year-old ridden by jockey Don Tyre set a new track record at the Grove City oval—doing the 440 in :22 08-100 breaking the existing record held by Top Rockette 2 who ticked in at :22-26 in 1970. Winners of the two remaining heats were Moneyed Chick in at :22 65-100 with Monty Wilkins, an 18-year-old Valdosta, Georgia girl aboard, and Top Bidder, clocked at :22 65-100 Don Keiser doing the booting.

Second of the titles to be decided October 1, is the Beulah Park Allowance Stake a 400-yarlder for 2-year-olds who have started in the finals or consolation of a futurity, but have not won such an event.

ON Saturday, October 2 and final day of the 13-day meeting the added Buckeye Allowance Stake will pit 2-year-old non-winners of 1971 stake races against each other in a 400 yard sprint.

In championship races to date, Rudds Spooky Boy, a 3-year-old won the Beulah Park 870, the distance run for sprinters to capture a $3,610 purse and Go With The Wind,

Colts Lose To Browns

BALTIMORE (AP) — The air arm of the Baltimore Colts, once the most feared in the National Football League has suddenly lost its striking power.

Earl Morrall and John Unitas, each starting his 16th pro season, combined for an incredible 3-for-18 passing record and 41 net yards Sunday, and were intercepted five times as the Cleveland Browns won 14-13.

"We had people open," said Baltimore Coach Don McCafferty, "but when we got the ball to them, they couldn't hold on to it."

The Colts had the same problem in exhibition games, causing McCafferty to comment after one game that "my nine-year-old daughter could have caught some of the passes we dropped."

Punt, Pass, Kick Competition Set For Next Week

October 3-9 has been designated as Punt, Pass and Kick Week throughout the Buckeye State.

The 11th annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for boys, ages 8 through 13, is co-sponsored by participating Ford dealers, the Cleveland Browns and the Cincinnati Bengals.

More than 30,000 Ohio youngsters are expected to participate in Ohio cities October 2 and 3. Local participants must sign up at Rod Bell Motor Sales, 586 N. Court St., by Sept. 20.

The PP&K program supports the President's Council on Physical Fitness which "stresses the continued importance of developing strength and stamina in our nation's youth through daily exercise."

With national participation expected to exceed 1,100,000, PP&K is the largest youth program of its kind in America.

Participants in the program compete only against boys their own age. No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a boy's amateur standing. There is no body contact and any boy, ages 8 through 13, is eligible to register at a participating Ford dealer. No purchase or entrance fee is required.

There are six levels of competition in the program: local, zone, district, area, division and the national finals to be held January 16 in New Orleans, La., during halftime of the 1971 Super Bowl game.

Circleville's Junior High School football team opened its 1971 campaign with a 6-0 victory over Lancaster Sherman at Sherman.

The games only score saw slotback Dick Alkire scamper 70 yards down the sideline behind excellent blocking.

The Tiger defense was the dominant factor in the contest with Tim Hartinger and Biff Bumgarner leading the defense in holding Lancaster to zero total yards.

Circleville's next game is 4:30 p.m. Thursday at home against Chillicothe Smith.

Harris Wins Robinson Open Golf

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — "I think there's a certain amount of fate involved."

Big Labron Harris was talking about his sudden death playoff victory over Bert Yancey for the $20,000 first prize in the Robinson Open golf tournament, Harris' first triumph in seven years on the pro tour.

"If you're going to win, you're going to win," Harris said Sunday after canning a five-foot birdie putt on the third playoff hole.

"That is, if you've got the game. And I think I have a game capable of winning. I've been in position to win several times, so I think that shows I have the game. Then you have to have the right attitude."

"I think I went into this playoff with the right attitude."

Harris, a 6-foot-4 Oklahoma State graduate, caught the front-running Yancey with an eight foot birdie putt on the 17th hole of regulation play, then preserved the tie when he made a par putt of four feet after missing the green on the final hole.

He and Yancey each had four-under-par 67s in their final round over the 6,585 yard Crawford County Country Club course and finished at 274, 10 under par.

Yancey collected $11,400 from the total purse of $100,000 for his second place finish.

Larry Hinson, Jim Colbert and Gay Brewer were next, tied at 276. Hinson had a 67, Colbert 68 and Brewer 69 in the final 18 of the 36 hole wind-up, forced when Saturday's play was washed out.

Trainers Budd Lepman and Grover (Buddy) Delp finished in a dead heat at the 1971 Monmouth Park meeting. Both saddled 22 winners at the meeting.

Home Teams Suffer In NFL Football Action

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a bad day to stay home—particularly if you happened to be a National Football League club in Baltimore or Minnesota.

In nine of Sunday's dozen games the home team proved itself the perfect host by offering a victory to the visitor—and no guest was more gracious in accepting the hospitality than Cleveland.

"When the defense gives you the ball that many times, you have to do something with it,"

Ohioan Gives Power To W. Va. Frosh

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Fullback Bill Lee carried the ball 39 times for 198 yards and two touchdowns to lead the West Virginia University freshmen to a 33-14 victory over the Pitt freshmen here Saturday night.

Lee, of Bellaire, Ohio, scored both touchdowns on one-yard runs.

WVU quarterback Chuck Fiorante of New Castle, Pa., completed 9 of 20 passes, most of them going to split end Marshall Mills of Morristown, Tenn., who caught six for 126 yards and one touchdown.

Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen observed.

He and running back Leroy Kelly did just enough with it, knocking off the defending champion Baltimore Colts 14-13.

Like the Colts, Minnesota's powerful Vikings had escaped the stunning series of surprises a weekend ago when a spate of favorites fell on opening day.

But young Kent Nix, the 1971 version of ol' George Blanda, came rushing to the rescue for the second week in a row with a pair of fourth-quarter touchdown tosses as the Chicago Bears victimized the Vikes 20-17.

In the other visitor victories, Dallas devastated Philadelphia 42-7, Washington walloped the New York Giants 30-3, Miami mauled Buffalo 29-14, Kansas City clipped Houston 20-16, Detroit dumped New England 34-7, San Francisco slapped New Orleans 38-20 and Oakland silenced San Diego 34-0.

Los Angeles escaped with a last-second 20-20 tie against invading Atlanta and, in the only two home triumphs, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 21-10 and Green Bay defeated Denver 34-13.

The New York Jets took on the Cardinals in St. Louis in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT) clash.

Baltimore quarterbacks Earl Morrall and Johnny Unitas presented Cleveland's defenders with five passes and the rest of the Colts chipped in with three fumbles as the Browns held the Super Bowlers to just 178 yards on the ground and in the air to maintain their record of having never lost in Baltimore.

"We started the game looking for the run," said defensive tackle Walter Johnson. "Then, after we got the lead and they had to go for the pass, our line could just lay back and blow in on 'em."

They got the lead on touchdown runs of one and three yards by Kelly. Two field goals was all the offense the Colts could generate as Don Nottingham scored their only touchdown with a return of a blocked punt.

"We had the opportunities to score several times," Baltimore Coach Don McCafferty reflected, "but it seemed any time we got momentum going the Browns' defense came up with the big play."

Nix, taking over for injured quarterback Jack Concannon with the Bears trailing 17-3, promptly made his first pass a six-pointer, connecting on a 36-yarder to Dick Gordon midway in the fourth quarter.

Then, after Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal cut the Minnesota margin to three points, Nix hit Gordon with the 19-yard winning touchdown just 1:42 from the end of the game.

Moments before, Nix had missed connections on a pass to Gordon. "I had another play called when Dick actually called the touchdown play," he recalled. "He came back to the huddle and said, 'Run it again.'" They did and, as Bears Coach Jim Dooley rejoiced: "It couldn't have been more beautiful!"

The Cowboys intercepted a team-record seven passes and quarterback Craig Morton responded with two touchdown passes and one scoring run.

"The interceptions turned the game around," said the Eagles' Pete Liske, victimized six times. Dallas Coach Tom Landry concurred: "If it hadn't been for the turnovers it would have been a very tough game."

Redskins quarterback Billy Kilmer decimated the Giants' pass defense, hitting 23 of 32 attempts for 309 yards and two touchdowns to Charley Taylor, one on a 71-yard first-quarter play that put the Skins ahead to stay.

Garro Yepremian swung the big toe for the Dolphins, booting five field goals while Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick churned their way to a combined 211 yards against the Bills.

A pair of Blanda field goals gave the Raiders a 6-0 halftime lead, then they ran away from the Chargers as Daryle Lamolina hit fleet Fred Biletnikoff with touchdown tosses of 36 and 13 yards.

October 3-9 has been designated as Punt, Pass and Kick Week throughout the Buckeye State.

The 11th annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for boys, ages 8 through 13, is co-sponsored by participating Ford dealers, the Cleveland Browns and the Cincinnati Bengals.

More than 35,000 Ohio youngsters are expected to participate in Ohio cities October 2 and 3. Local participants must sign up at Rod Bell Motor Sales, 586 N. Court St., by Sept. 20.

The PP&K program supports the President's Council on Physical Fitness which "stresses the continued importance of developing strength and stamina in our nation's youth through daily exercise."

With national participation expected to exceed 1,100,000, PP&K is the largest youth program of its kind in America.

Participants in the program compete only against boys their own age. No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a boy's amateur standing. There is no body contact and any boy, ages 8 through 13, is eligible to register at a participating Ford dealer. No purchase or entrance fee is required.

There are six levels of competition in the program: local, zone, district, area, division and the national finals to be held January 16 in New Orleans, La., during halftime of the 1971 Super Bowl game.

Junior High Team Downs Lancaster

Circleville's Junior High School football team opened its 1971 campaign with a 6-0 victory over Lancaster Sherman at Sherman.

The games only score saw slotback Dick Alkire scamper 70 yards down the sideline behind excellent blocking.

The Tiger defense was the dominant factor in the contest with Tim Hartinger and Biff Bumgarner leading the defense in holding Lancaster to zero total yards.

Circleville's next game is 4:30 p.m. Thursday at home against Chillicothe Smith.

Harris Wins Robinson Open Golf

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — "I think there's a certain amount of fate involved."

Big Labron Harris was talking about his sudden death victory over Bert Yancey for the $20,000 first prize in the Robinson Open golf tournament, Harris' first triumph in seven years on the pro tour.

"If you're going to win, you're going to win," Harris said Sunday after canning a five-foot birdie putt on the third playoff hole.

"That is, if you've got the game. And I think I have a game capable of winning. I've been in position to win several times, so I think that shows I have the game. Then you have to have the right attitude."

"I think I went into this playoff with the right attitude."

Harris, a 6-foot-4 Oklahoma State graduate, caught the front-running Yancey with an eight foot birdie putt on the 17th hole of regulation play, then preserved the tie when he made a par putt of four feet after missing the green on the final hole.

He and Yancey each had four-under-par 67s in their final round over the 6,585 yard Crawford County Country Club course and finished at 274, 10 under par.

Yancey collected $11,400 from the total purse of $100,000 for his second place finish.

Larry Hinson, Jim Colbert and Gay Brewer were next, tied at 276. Hinson had a 67, Colbert 68 and Brewer 69 in the final 18 of the 36 hole wind-up, forced when Saturday's play was washed out.

Trainers Budd Lepman and Grover (Buddy) Delp finished in a dead heat at the 1971 Monmouth Park meeting. Both saddled 22 winners at the meeting.

Home Teams Suffer In NFL Football Action

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
It was a bad day to stay home—particularly if you happened to be a National Football League club in Baltimore or Minnesota.

In nine of Sunday's dozen games the home team proved itself the perfect host by offering a victory to the visitor—and no guest was more gracious in accepting the hospitality than Cleveland.

"When the defense gives you the ball that many times, you have to do something with it,"

Ohioan Gives Power To W. Va. Frosh

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Fullback Bill Lee carried the ball 39 times for 198 yards and two touchdowns to lead the West Virginia University freshmen to a 33-14 victory over the Pitt freshmen here Saturday night.

Lee, of Bellaire, Ohio, scored both touchdowns on one-yard runs.

WVU quarterback Chuck Fiorante of New Castle, Pa., completed 9 of 20 passes, most of them going to split end Marshall Mills of Morristown, Tenn., who caught six for 126 yards and one touchdown.

Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen observed.

He and running back Leroy Kelly did just enough with it, knocking off the defending champion Baltimore Colts 14-13.

Like the Colts, Minnesota's powerful Vikings had escaped the stunning series of surprises a weekend ago when a spate of favorites fell on opening day.

But young Kent Nix, the 1971 version of ol' George Blanda, came rushing to the rescue for the second week in a row with a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns as the Chicago Bears victimized the Vikes 20-17.

In the other visitor victories, Dallas devastated Philadelphia 42-7, Washington walloped the New York Giants 30-3, Miami mauled Buffalo 29-14, Kansas City clipped Houston 20-16, Detroit dumped New England 34-7, San Francisco slapped New Orleans 38-20 and Oakland silenced San Diego 34-0.

Los Angeles escaped with a last-second 20-20 tie against invading Atlanta and, in the only two home triumphs, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 21-10 and Green Bay defeated Denver 34-13.

The New York Jets take on the Cardinals in St. Louis in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT) clash.

Baltimore quarterbacks Earl Morrall and Johnny Unitas presented Cleveland's defenders with five passes and the rest of the Colts chipped in with three fumbles as the Browns held the Super Bowlers to just 178 yards on the ground and in the air to maintain their record of having never lost in Baltimore.

"We started the game looking for the run," said defensive tackle Walter Johnson. "Then, after we got the lead and they had to go for the pass, our line could just lay back and blow in on 'em."

They got the lead on touchdown runs of one and three yards by Kelly. Two field goals was all the offense the Colts could generate as Don Nottingham scored their only touchdown with a return of a blocked punt.

"We had the opportunities to score several times," Baltimore Coach Don McCafferty reflected, "but it seemed any time we got momentum going the Browns' defense came up with the big play."

Nix, taking over for injured quarterback Jack Concannon with the Bears trailing 17-3, promptly made his first pass a six-pointer, connecting on a 36-yarder to Dick Gordon midway in the fourth quarter.

Then, after Mac Percival's 45-yard field goal cut the Minnesota margin to three points, Nix hit Gordon with the 19-yard winning touchdown just 1:42 from the end of the game.

Moments before, Nix had missed connections on a pass to Redskins quarterback Billy Kilmer decimated the Giants' pass defense, hitting 23 of 32 attempts for 309 yards and two touchdowns to Charley Taylor, one on a 71-yard first-quarter play that put the Skins ahead to stay.

Garro Yepremian swung the big toe for the Dolphins, booting five field goals while Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick churned their way to a combined 211 yards against the Bills.

A pair of Blanda field goals gave the Raiders a 6-0 halftime lead, then they ran away from the Chargers as Daryle Lamonia hit fleet Fred Biletnikoff with touchdown tosses of 36 and 13 yards.

OSU Faces Triple Option Once Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another dose of the triple option awaits Ohio State's football team this week.

"Ohio State has trouble defending the triple option," said California scout John Erby after watching the sixth-ranked Buckeyes fall to No. 10 Colorado 20-14 Saturday.

"Yes, we run the triple option, too," said the grinning Golden Bears assistant coach.

While Woody Hayes tries to solve the option, Colorado, off to a 3-0 start, swings into Big Eight play against visiting Kansas State.

Hayes praised Colorado's attack that stung his team for 285 ground yards as Ohio State lost for the first time in 20 home games.

"They execute the option as well as any team in the country," he said. "In fact, there are very few teams who are able to make it go."

Ken Johnson made it work. The Colorado quarterback ran for 84 yards, including touchdowns of 6 and 39 yards. And his pitchouts to Charlie Davis accounted for 135 more yards.

Cliff Branch, a 9.2 sprinter, scored the other Buffalo touchdown, racing back a punt return 69 yards in the second quarter.

Woman Found Shot To Death

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Youngstown police are investigating the death of Elaine McCarthy, 39, of Cleveland, the widow of slain Ohio Penitentiary escapee Christopher McCarthy.

Mrs. McCarthy was found shot to death in a Youngstown hotel room late Friday night. A .22-caliber revolver was found nearby, wrapped in a towel.

McCarthy was shot and killed Sept. 16 when he tried to rob a savings and loan company in Edison, N.J. One policeman was killed and two others wounded in that incident. Just before his escape, McCarthy had been an honor prisoner serving a life sentence for a 1960 murder conviction.

Israeli Farm Communities Now Getting Industry

By MARTIN ZUCKER
TEL AVIV (AP) — The industrial revolution has come to the kibbutz, the traditional symbol of Israeli agricultural pioneering.

Such, are the advances being made that one Israeli commentator said it will soon "become doubtful whether the kibbutz movement still belongs to the agricultural sector."

And with this phenomenon have come questions stabbing at the 60-year-old ideological principles of these Jewish collective farms.

Usually associated with lush orange groves, banana fields, sheep and cow herds, the kibbutzim several years ago began developing home industries linked to their agriculture, such as fruit and vegetable processing, farm machinery and irrigation equipment.

Now, the movement has expanded and includes wood and furniture enterprises, metal and chemicals and even sophisticated plastics and electronics. One religious kibbutz also jumped on the bandwagon. It began producing Israel's first frozen television dinners last year.

About 150 of the 230 kibbutzim have factories. Some of them have two, three and even four plants operating, with between 5 to 500 employees and annual sales between $15,000 to $9 million.

There are a total of about 190 factories. The growth rate is 10 to 15 new ones a year.

According to Shlomo Stanger, chairman of the Kibbutz Industries Association, most of the remaining settlements plan to add industry also.

The initiative for this movement has come from the kibbutzim themselves and stems from social and economic reasons.

Stanger said industries provide an outlet for surplus manpower freed by modern agriculture, provide a profitable source of income and a vehicle for perpetuating communal dynamism.

Another factor was cited by Eddie Nemenoff, production manager of a factory at Kibbutz Kefar Hanasi in the Galilee which produces a line of diecast toy cars mostly for export.

"The young people come back from the army and are looking for more interesting options than returning to sheep and bananas," he said.

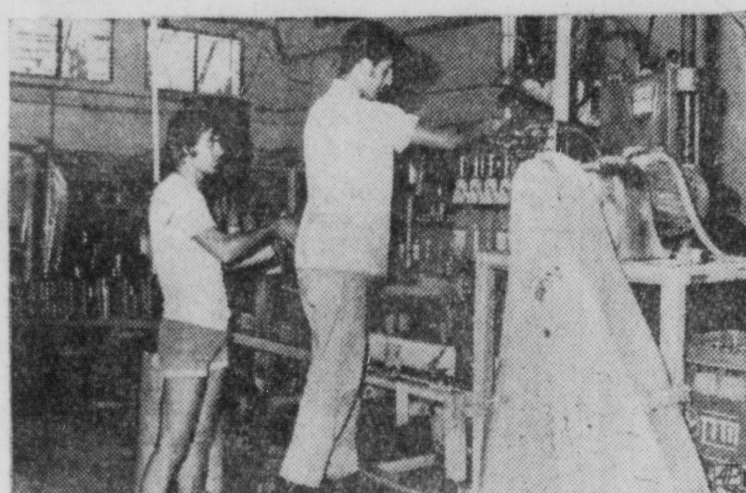

Since 1965, the output of these settlement industries has doubled. Sales last year reached $229 million, of which $37 million worth of production was exported.

The kibbutzim account for four per cent of Israel's three million population. Their industrial output is about 4.5 per cent. Their industrial output is running about five per cent ahead of the national yearly growth rate of 15-18 per cent.

Industry now brings in 35 per cent of kibbutz incomes.

A by-product created by this expanding rural industrialization is the seeming "Frankenstein effect" it has on many kibbutzniks. They fear the industry may dominate the life of the farm, set up on a foundation of agricultural collectivism where all members are equal. Major kibbutz decisions have always been taken by the general assembly of settlement members, who periodically elect a secretariat to manage the operational routine.

The traditionalists are apprehensive about the creation of a local strata of bosses and executives who would be in a position to control finance and make independent key decisions.

Sonar Is Used To Track Fish

STUFFED FISH — The large striped bass swallows a sonar signal sending device which marine scientists will monitor to track his movements in and out of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md. (AP) — University of Maryland scientists now are using sonar to determine the ecological balance of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

The sonar is used to track fish.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers contracted for a comprehensive three-year research program to determine the nature and probable magnitude of the biological effects of widening and deepening the 19-mile long C & D Canal.

So the researchers net a number of fish, primarily striped bass, and tag them with identification offering a reward if the fish is returned to the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory.

Then a sonic signal sender is placed deep in the fish's stomach.

After the fish is released, the scientists track him through the "beep-beep" being broadcast from his stomach, recording where he rests and where he feeds.

A number of parallel surveys also are under way.

Other marine researchers are collecting fish eggs and larvae to find out how nursery areas and young fish react to the canal's enlargement.

The migration patterns, seasons and life stages of crabs and shellfish also are being investigated.

mortars. They followed up two of the attacks with infantry and sapper assaults.

The attacks were the heaviest in the border region in nearly four months.

Field reports said about 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and three to four times as many wounded. Seven Cambodian and a handful of American troops were wounded.

The Saigon command said 58 North Vietnamese troops were killed.

Officers in the field said that the South Vietnamese had held all of their positions and that enemy action had died down this morning.

Most of the attacks centered in and around the Cambodian town of Krek on Highway 7, five miles from the border. South Vietnamese officers said every position along the road was attacked.

The South Vietnamese are positioned there to keep North Vietnamese forces from infiltrating into South Vietnam's 3rd Military Region to disrupt the presidential election next Sunday. The 3rd Region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces.

The heavy shelling attacks indicated that the North Vietnamese were trying to keep Saigon troops pinned down and diverted while they slipped infiltrators across the border.

Three Injured, One Cited In City Accidents

Three persons were injured and one cited in three separate accidents in Circleville Saturday.

David R. Hulse, 19, 123 Pontious Lane suffered a cut lip and was cited for reckless operation when his auto struck two parked cars in front of 148 Pontious Lane 2:59 a.m.

He told police officers he fell asleep and didn't remember what happened.

Jerry L. Wharf, 19, Route 3, was treated at Berger Hospital for a cut lip and abrasions of the back and chest received when his motorcycle upset 3 p.m. in the lot adjacent to the Big Bear store on N. Court St.

A two-car accident 11:21 p.m. at the intersection of Court St. and Main St. resulted in a knee injury to Malcolm D. Wilkins, 18, 121 Town St. He was treated at Berger Hospital.

According to the report in the police department, Wilkins was southbound on Court St. when a northbound car driven by Ted H. Riggan, 54, 167 Fourth Ave., made a left turn in front of him.

Ross Deputies Nab 6 Orient Escapees

Six escapees from Orient State Institute were apprehended by Ross County Sheriff's Deputies Saturday morning near Bloomingburg.

The six, walkaways from the Pickaway County facility, Friday were spotted by a resident in the area as they walked along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, south of Bloomingburg 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Logs from Rockefeller Center's 1970 Christmas tree, a 65-foot white spruce, have been given to Boy Scouts at White Plains, N. Y.

Scientists know some environmental changes occurred during the widening of the canal, which may be one of the world's most intensively used waterways as a vital link in a short water route between Philadelphia and Baltimore, and between New York City and Baltimore.

When concluded, however, the study should provide a glimpse into exactly how the environmental balance has been changed.

Ohio Highway Crashes Claim 21

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic claimed 21 lives in Ohio over the weekend, all but two of them in separate accidents.

The only double-death accident took the lives of a West Virginia couple in Belmont County Saturday.

Two of Sunday's deaths were youngsters, aged one and three, killed when the cars in which they were riding were involved in separate accidents.

The weekend death toll was two shy of the count one week earlier, but compared with 17 who died on the same weekend last year.

The dead:
FRIDAY
TOLEDO — Levi Moss Jr., of Toledo, when he ran into the path of an auto on Interstate 475 on the city's West Side.

STOW — John D. Kurko, 23, of Akron when his car slid into the rear of a dump truck on Ohio 81 at Arndale Road in Stow, Summit County.

BARBERTON — Henry Kearney, 58, of Barberton when struck by a car on Interstate 80 in Barberton.

YOUNGSTOWN — Lorenzo Mitchell, 20, Youngstown, in an accident on a downtown city street.

SATURDAY
COLUMBUS — Susan M. Miller, 18, of Columbus, when the car in which she was riding crashed off Demorest Road just southwest of the city.

MILLERSBURG — William E. Summer, of near Millersburg, in a traffic mishap on Ohio 39 one mile east of Berlin in Holmes County.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — Homer R. Walton, 56, and his wife Marcell 55, of Moundsville, W. Va., in a two-car crash on Interstate 70 less than a mile east of U.S. 40 in Belmont County.

WAYNESVILLE — Mary K. Herrington, 24, of Route 2, Lebanon, in another two-car crash on U.S. 42 south of Waynesville.

GREENEVILLE — William C. Bland, 49, of Greenville, in a single-car crash on Ohio 571 in Darke County.

BUCYRUS — Carl B. Chapman, 58, of Bucyrus, in an accident on a city street.

FINDLAY — Deborah Lynn Snider, 18, of Franklin, in a two-car crash on County Road 94 in Hancock County.

ALLIANCE — Charles S. Conkle, 61, of Damascus, in a four-car collision on U.S. 62 east of Alliance in Columbiana County.

TROY — James E. Hewitt, 20, of Piqua, when his car ran off Lytle Road in Miami County, about three miles northwest of Troy Sunday.

Minimum Pay Boost Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Labor Committee says his panel will start next week to draw up a bill that will boost the minimum wage to $2.25 even though such an increase may run afoul of President Nixon's economic program.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said in a statement Sunday the committee "will have to see what impact the President's program will have on our legislation when it is announced."

"But," he said, "we still see a strong need for a higher minimum wage. The present minimum does not even provide a poverty-level income." The present minimum wage is $1.60 an hour.

Congress almost certainly will not complete action on such a bill before the present wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13. But there have been indications Nixon's Phase 2 of the program will include wage stabilization measures.

Under the Williams' bill, the new floor would take effect in two steps, $2 after 60 days and $2.25 one year after that.

Find Stolen Car In Puerto Rico

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — For a month Herbert Bischoff had been worried about his stolen car, so he was happy when police called to say it had been recovered. But there's a problem: the car is in Puerto Rico.

Police weren't sure how the 1964 car, stolen from in front of Bischoff's home, wound up on the Caribbean island. But they said it was impounded at Puerto Nuevo, and he could pick it up any time.

Plan Party For Mamie

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon are expected to attend a gala 75th birthday banquet reunion tonight for former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower.

The Nixons, honorary chairmen of the event, are flying back from an Alaska meeting with Japanese Emperor Hirohito and his wife. Their tight time schedule, bringing them back around 8 p.m., will leave little time to change into formal attire for the big social event at a downtown hotel.

Mrs. Eisenhower is being saluted with a $100-a-plate dinner to raise money for a scholarship fund in her name at the Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y. The college was named for her late husband.

It will be a nostalgic party with 14 former Eisenhower Cabinet members, many Eisenhower friends, Washington officials, socialites and show business personalities attending.

Actually, though, it isn't Mamie's birthday. She won't be 75 until Nov. 14. But the diamond jubilee party was scheduled early because Mrs. Eisenhower will be vacationing in California after Oct. 1.

The South Vietnamese are positioned there to keep North Vietnamese forces from infiltrating into South Vietnam's 3rd Military Region to disrupt the presidential election next Sunday. The 3rd Region includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces.

The heavy shelling attacks indicated that the North Vietnamese were trying to keep Saigon troops pinned down and diverted while they slipped infiltrators across the border.

Three Injured, One Cited In City Accidents

Three persons were injured and one cited in three separate accidents in Circleville Saturday.

David R. Hulse, 19, 123 Pontious Lane suffered a cut lip and was cited for reckless operation when his auto struck two parked cars in front of 148 Pontious Lane 2:59 a.m.

He told police officers he fell asleep and didn't remember what happened.

Jerry L. Wharf, 19, Route 3, was treated at Berger Hospital for a cut lip and abrasions of the back and chest received when his motorcycle upset 3 p.m. in the lot adjacent to the Big Bear store on N. Court St.

A two-car accident 11:21 p.m. at the intersection of Court St. and Main St. resulted in a knee injury to Malcolm D. Wilkins, 18, 121 Town St. He was treated at Berger Hospital.

According to the report in the police department, Wilkins was southbound on Court St. when a northbound car driven by Ted H. Riggins, 54, 167 Fourth Ave., made a left turn in front of him.

Ross Deputies Nab 6 Orient Escapees

Six escapees from Orient State Institute were apprehended by Ross County Sheriff's Deputies Saturday morning near Bloomingburg.

The six, walkaways from the Pickaway County facility, Friday were spotted by a resident in the area as they walked along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, south of Bloomingburg 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Logs from Rockefeller Center's 1970 Christmas tree, a 65-foot white spruce, have been given to Boy Scouts at White Plains, N. Y.

Scientists know some environmental changes occurred during the widening of the canal, which may be one of the world's most intensively used waterways as a vital link in a short water route between Philadelphia and Baltimore, and between New York City and Baltimore.

When concluded, however, the study should provide a glimpse into exactly how the environmental balance has been changed.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic claimed 21 lives in Ohio over the weekend, all but two of them in separate accidents.

The only double-death accident took the lives of a West Virginia couple in Belmont County Saturday.

Two of Sunday's deaths were youngsters, aged one and three, killed when the cars in which they were riding were involved in separate accidents.

The weekend death toll was two shy of the count one week earlier, but compared with 17 who died on the same weekend last year.

women have been discriminated against in the field of law, Judge Kennedy said. "Sometimes a woman has to be more fully prepared and has to do a lot better than a man, but personally I've been fortunate."

Judges Bacon and Johnson were both appointed to the District of Columbia court a year ago.

Judge Bacon, 40 and Republican, was executive assistant to the U.S. attorney here when she moved to the bench.

She said she is "particularly concerned about the lack of public confidence in the court system, that the courts are bearing the brunt of a certain amount of antiestablishment feeling."

A petite, attractive woman, Judge Bacon said of speculation that she is among those being considered for the high court, "I don't believe in a 'woman's seat' on the Supreme Court or any court, but I do believe they should have an opportunity to serve if legally qualified—and I have no doubt there are qualified women."

Judge Johnson, whose chamber is two doors away from Judge Bacon's, was an assistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia before being appointed to Superior Court.

A Democrat and black, she's 39 and married to Asst. U.S. Atty. Julius A. Johnson.

She refused to comment on any aspect of her legal philosophy or on appointment to the Supreme Court.

"At this point," she said, "I'm better off saying nothing."

Saturday Crash Injures Six

Six persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision Saturday investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

An Ashville couple, Walter and Maxine Rathburn, along with a passenger in their auto, Betty Edwards, of Columbus, were treated for minor injuries at Berger Hospital. A Lynchburg couple and their six-year-old son were also given emergency treatment here. None were admitted.

Investigating patrolmen cited Rathburn for failure to yield the right of way when he made a left turn onto northbound Route 104 and was struck by Branham's auto, which was headed west on Route 22.

Minimum Pay Boost Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Labor Committee says his panel will start next week to draw up a bill that will boost the minimum wage to $2.25 even though such an increase may run afoul of President Nixon's economic program.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said in a statement Sunday the committee "will have to see what impact the President's program will have on our legislation when it is announced."

"But," he said, "we still see a strong need for a higher minimum wage. The present minimum does not even provide a poverty-level income." The present minimum wage is $1.60 an hour.

Congress almost certainly will not complete action on such a bill before the present wage-price freeze expires Nov. 13. But there have been indications Nixon's Phase 2 of the program will include wage stabilization measures.

Under the Williams' bill, the new floor would take effect in two steps, $2 after 60 days and $2.25 one year after that.

Find Stolen Car In Puerto Rico

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — For a month Herbert Bischoff had been worried about his stolen car, so he was happy when police called to say it had been recovered. But there's a problem: the car is in Puerto Rico.

Police weren't sure how the 1964 car, stolen from in front of Bischoff's home, wound up on the Caribbean island. But they said it was impounded at Puerto Nuevo, and he could pick it up any time.
